"All Nature is but art unknown to these;
All chance direction, which thou canst not see;
All discord, harmony not understood;
All partial evil, universal good."

We respectfully suggest that the 263-pound West Virginia man who seeks enlistment in the aviation corps could render his country much better service on a submarine.

President Coolidge's friends are in a terrible state of cerebral excitement over the forthcoming debate in Boston between Bill Borah and Nick Butler—it is feared they will spill the beans.

Wilhelm der Grosse Thompson, the well-known 100 per cent American, is elected mayor of a large German city. No wonder we don't celebrate our entrance into the world war on the side of the Allies. Who remembers when it was considered proper to recite:
"Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you from falling hands we throw
The torch, be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders field."

The highest horse in the world—outside the one Calles rode, until Mr. Kellogg made him dismount—is dead. He weighed 3,050 pounds and wouldn't have shied at Chief Justice Taft. Still, the ambitious little fivetoed Eolippus has a considerable distance to go yet—
"I'm going to have a flowing tail!
I'm going to have a mane!
I'm going to stand 14 hands high
On the psychozoic plain!"

We understand that the Chicago election was conducted with such expedition that four hours after the ballots closed practically every bullet had been counted.

If Principe Carol were at a cabaret he couldn't be sitting up much later to get the bulletins from King Ferdinand. He wishes he would get well—or something.

Mussolini's negotiations for the opening of Fiume to Hungarian trade ought to be a sufficient refutation of the silly old slander that Italy wanted this city in order that she might kill it to the aggrandizement of Trieste.

California gentleman gets a divorce, alimony, and a cash payment from his wife for beating him up.
Woman never lost so many of her rights as when she gained them.

Moses says that President Coolidge will not be a third-term candidate next year, but an habitual modesty prevents him from predicting who will lead the party into the promised land.

We don't propose to be upset by third-term predictions until Frank Stearns makes one.

In predicting that Gov. Smith will be nominated by the Democrats and that he will break up the solid wet-drinking dry-voting South, Senator Moses forgets that there is one issue that is of even more vital concern, even in psalm-singing South Carolina, than prohibition, but Carter Glass doesn't.

The new officer of the Elks will be installed tonight, and we can remember when the reporters would match to see who got this assignment.

"I wish the careful little girls Could make the naughty little boys
All join a big society.
Preventing cruelty to toys."

Here's a child's wooden horse that has just as much hair in its tail and just as much paint in its nostrils as it had A. D. 145. What a careful little Egyptian kid—he deserves an orange.

When the reaction against fanaticism, intolerance, bigotry, poisoned alcohol, hi-jacking, smuggling and statutory morality really does set in in this country, we'll be lucky if we don't elect a bootlegger President.

On the tenth anniversary of "Over There" the transports with the marines in the steeage are sailing for China. After all, we know when we got into the world war, but who can tell when we're going to get out?

Duke Joachim Ernst von Anhalt snaps his fingers at his relatives who snap his fingers at him. He is not snapping his fingers at an actress.
"Cophetia swears a royal oath:
This beggar maid shall be my queen."

The Confederate vet who celebrates the Tampa reunion by getting married at 82 demonstrated his reckless bravery once before in a somewhat modified way—he was in Pickett's charge at Gettysburg.

PEKING THREATENED IN TWO DIRECTIONS BY CANTON ARMIES

Tientsin Also Is Menaced by Northern Thrust of Southerners.

AMERICANS LEAVING ALL YANGTZE POINTS

Appeal for Unity in the Kno- mintang Is Issued by Gang Chin Wei.

Peking, China, April 5 (By A. P.).—
The field of operations of China's grim civil war has shifted so steadily from the Yangtze Valley to the north that Peking itself, ancient historic seat of the government of China and the capital of the northeners, now appears definitely threatened.

The danger comes from two directions, first the northward drive along the Tientsin-Pukow railway by the Cantonese and, secondly, a possible sweep from the northwest by Marshal Feng Yu-Hsiang, once known as the "Christian general" and leader of the Kuomintang or national people's army.

The Cantonese threat, coming as it does on the heels of the successful Cantonese occupation of the great Yangtze valley, completed by the capture of Shanghai and Nanking, is directed primarily at Tientsin, the capital of Shantung, and Tientsin, important northern railway center.
Should Tientsin be seriously endangered, the powerful and undefeated forces of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian war lord, would be forced to withdraw from Peking, since Tientsin offers their only line of communication with Manchuria, their base.

Chang Still a Factor.

Gen. Chang Tsung-Chang, the Shantungese leader, who has large and well equipped forces at Suchowfu in the province of Kiangsu, is believed to offer the most serious obstacle to the Cantonese drive. Military experts express the opinion that if he is willing to fight he could easily withstand the Cantonese, but his recent collapse in Cantonese, but his recent collapse in Cantonese, but his recent collapse in

has raised doubts as to his intentions.
Should trachery or Cantonese propaganda behind his lines break down Gen. Chang's defense, first Tientsin would be endangered and then Tien-sin.

Any congestion of railroad service at Tientsin because of the possible withdrawal of Manchurian troops from Peking would be certain to make the evacuation of foreigners in the north extremely difficult.

The threat on Peking by Feng Yu-Hsiang has not reached an active stage but is present nevertheless. Feng was driven out of Peking a year ago by the combined forces of Chang Tso-Lin and Wu Pei-Fu. The latter who is governor of Honan is now at odds with Chang Tso-Lin and has met several severe reverses at the hands of his erstwhile colleague. These reverses are

Rail Value Ruling May Be Appealed

St. Louis, April 5 (By A. P.).—The recent decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission adopting original investment as the basis for railroad valuation probably will be appealed to the Supreme Court, Daniel Kirby, counsel for the St. Louis & O'Fallon Railway Co., said today.

Kirby said he would have to study the text of the decision and desired to consult Eastern attorneys before deciding definitely what action would be taken. The first step, he said, probably would be to ask for a rehearing. If this were denied, the case probably would be taken to the Federal district court and from there direct to the Supreme Court.

Beaten by Wife, Gets Divorce and Alimony

San Francisco, Calif., April 5 (By A.
P.).—J. B. Mulready, today received a divorce from Mrs. Marguerite Mulready, alimony of $450, and $750 for beatings she gave him. Thomas F.
Graham, of the superior court, was the judge who reversed the usual course of things.

Mrs. Mulready not only lost her plea for a divorce, but she was ordered to pay $50 a blow for striking her husband. Several years ago Judge Graham assessed a man $50 a blow for beating his wife. He said the rule works both ways.

Turkey to Borrow $20,000,000 in U. S.

Constantinople, April 5 (By A. P.).— Following negotiations with Maj. James Case, consulting engineer for Ulen & Co., of New York, the Turkish government has accepted in principle an offer of a $20,000,000 loan for railroad and other construction in Anatolia. H. C.
Ulen has arrived here to fix the details with the Turkish minister of public works.

The American proposition may include building the lines recently the subject of negotiations with a Belgian group, as it is stated the latter have not raised the capital necessary to carry out the contract.

War Entry Is Remembered Without City Celebration

Tenth Anniversary of Declaration by Congress Ob- served by Legion Posts Today—Speeches at Thomas Circle Club—Tea for Auxiliary.

In much the same silence with which it received the declaration of war—marked contrast to the wildly joyous and abandoned happy reception of the news of the armistice—Washington yesterday contemplated the anniversary of the nation's entry into the pit of the world war ten years ago today.

There will be today no triumphant fanfare of war trumpets, no organized city-wide celebration of the anniversary of the date on which Congress voted by overwhelming majority to cast the weight of the nation's manhood and wealth into the scales of the world war against Germany.

Today the auxiliary of the Spenger post of the American Legion will give a tea. The Sergeant Jasper post and the Bellevue Wood post, the latter composed of girls who served in the marine corps in the war, will hold a joint meeting in the Thomas Circle club on Massachusetts avenue, just east of the circle.
Representative Jeffers, of Alabama; J.
G. Sims, of Tennessee, national vice commander of the American Legion, and Paul J. McQuinn, former District department commander, will address the meeting. The Vincent B. Costello post, the fire-eaters of the District American Legion, met in the District building last night.

There was something joyous in the prospects of the return from the dangers and death and pain of the battled field made possible by the armistice and that anniversary probably will be celebrated with various public affairs for years to come. But the same feeling of solemnity and the inappropriateness of cheers and laughter which held the Senate and its filled galleries, and the House and its packed galleries to silence when the war votes were taken, seemed to color the anniversary.

Ten years ago today too many men were yet to die, too many were yet to be wounded; too many women were yet to lose their sons, too many children their fathers. The decade has been too sweet in the passing to wipe out those memories. If the past history of the nation is an indication the anniversary of the war never will be celebrated with much glitter and waving of the flag.
Comparatively few persons today can tell forthwith the date of the declaration.

NEW TRIAL IS DENIED TO SACCO AND VANZETTI

Supreme Court of Massachu- setts Upholds Trial Judge and Prosecutor in Case.

DEATH SENTENCE SHORTLY

Boston, Mass., April 5 (By A. P.).—A new trial for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, convicted of murder in a case which attracted world-wide attention, was refused by the Massachusetts supreme court today. The court upheld the refusal of Judge Webster Thayer, of the superior court, to grant a new trial, sought on the basis of an alleged confession by Celestino Madros, under death sentence for another murder.

Today's decision means that the long-delayed sentence will be pronounced shortly by the superior court. In this State the penalty for murder in the first degree is death in the electric chair at the State prison.

The decision overruled all the exceptions taken by counsel for Sacco and Vanzetti to the rulings of Judge Thayer in the course of the original trial and in the hearings on motions for a new trial. Their counsel have not yet indicated whether an appeal will be taken to the United States Supreme Court.

The decision of the full bench of the supreme court was handed down by Judge William C. Wait. It held that there was no abuse of discretion by Judge Thayer in ruling that no reliance could be placed on the confession of Celestino Madros, that he committed the murders of which the two men were convicted.

In upholding the course of the district attorney's office of Norfolk county in conducting the case, the court said:
"The prosecuting officer is violating no canon of legal ethics in presenting evidence which tends to show guilt while failing to call witnesses in whom he has no confidence or whose testimony contradicts what he is trying to prove."

The court said that the placing of apies in the cells adjoining those of

Missing Mail Pilot's Cushions Found in Bay

San Francisco, April 5 (By A. P.).
Two airplane cushions, found floating today in San Francisco bay, were identified as those belonging to the missing mail airplane that carried Edward Nehr, pilot, and Alfred Schaller when it left Friday Saturday midnight.

The cushions gave the searchers the first clue as to the fate of the machine that should have landed at the presidio here Sunday morning with mail from Los Angeles.

"SEX" CAST CONVICTED; 2 ACTORS BREAK DOWN

O'Neal, Hard-Boiled Officer in Play, Sobs; Mae West Says She'll Fight.

New York, April 5 (By A. P.).—A jury in general sessions court late this afternoon found guilty the 22 individuals and 1 corporation charged with presenting in the play "Sex" a production tending to corrupt the morals of youth. Five hours' deliberation were necessary. The Sixty-third Street Theater Corporation, owners of the theater where "Sex" was produced and raided by the police, was acquitted.

The defendants will be sentenced April 19. The law provides not less than ten days nor more than a year in jail, or not less than $50 nor more than $1,000 fine, or both, as punishment for each of them.

Those convicted were Mae West, the star; her leading man, Barrie O'Neal; eighteen other members of the cast, and James A. Timoney and Clarence W. Morganstern, managers of the production.

The corporation convicted was the Morals Productions Corporation, John Cort, principal owner of the Sixty-third Street theater, was dismissed as an individual defendant by Judge Donellan earlier today.

Two male members of the cast broke down when lined up to give their principal prints after return of the verdict.
Barrie O'Neal, who played a hard-boiled lieutenant in the play, burst into sobs.
Mae West smiled grimly at the verdict, announcing later that she would fight.

Mr. Timoney, while the jury was out, fingered his rosary and said, "I'm praying." The second male member to break down was David Hughes.

COOLIDGE NOT TO RUN IN 1928, SAYS MOSES

Republican Will Win, Sena- tor Predicts, but He Will Not Hint Name.

New York, April 5 (By A. P.).—President Coolidge will not be a candidate for a third time in 1928, Senator George H. Moses, of New Hampshire, chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, predicted here tonight, the New York Herald-Tribune (Republican) says.

"Mr. Coolidge's psychology is such that he does not want to be confronted with four years of limbo," said Senator Moses. He predicted that a Republican would be elected in 1928, but he declined to give his opinion as to who would get the nomination.

He thought Gov. Smith would be the Democratic nominee if the two-thirds majority rule is abrogated at the convention, but he felt sure Gov. Smith's nomination would result in breaking up the solid South.

"No Tammany man could ever be elected President," he declared.

Salvador to Send New Minister Here

After an interval of seven years, the Republic of Salvador is to be represented in Washington by a Minister Plenipotentiary. Don Hector David Castro, who as charge d'affaires ad interim has represented Salvador here since December, 1922, will return home on April 16 to take over the functions of undersecretary of state for foreign affairs. It was learned today at the Salvadoran legation. It is confidently expected that a successor, with the rank of Minister, will be named before the end of the month.

Following the withdrawal of Salvador Sol, the last envoy from that country, the interests of Salvador were as-trusted from 1920 to 1922 to Octavio Beeche, at that time Costa Rican Minister at Washington. Dr. Castro was named charge d'affaires ad interim on December 16, 1922.

JURY IS EXPECTED TO DETERMINE FATE OF BOERSIG TODAY

Prosecution Demands His Life; Wife Pleads for Him.

ACCUSED SAYS MIND BLANK ON FATAL DAY

Mrs. Ridgeway Holds Her Baby While Telling Fairfax Court of Murders.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
Fairfax Courthouse, Va., April 5.— After eight drama-crowded hours of testimony in the 127-year-old courthouse here today, the murder trial of Louis S. Boersig was adjourned until tomorrow morning.

Some time tomorrow the jury will decide whether Boersig murdered 7-year-old Loretta Ridgeway, outside of Alexandria, Va., just a month and two days ago.

The jury also will prescribe the punishment. The prosecution today demanded the death penalty. Should such a penalty be imposed, Boersig would go to the electric chair in Richmond.

Boersig also is charged with killing Loretta Ridgeway's sister, 6-year-old Kathleen, and of assaulting their mother, Mrs. Minnie Ridgeway. The motives for the crime, according to the prosecution, was robbery. Boersig is accused of stealing $93 after knocking senseless the mother and her two daughters.

Insists Memory Lost.

Bad liquor and a "bad memory" constituted the keynotes of Boersig's defense this afternoon. He said that he had suffered a mental "blank" on the day the crime was committed.

He testified that he had been drinking on the day of the crime and did not know what he had done nor where he had been between the hours of 11 and 4 o'clock. The crime took place shortly after noon.

Although he pleaded "not guilty" to the indictment charging him with Loretta Ridgeway's murder, Boersig did not specifically deny his guilt on the witness stand. His answer to all questions was that he did not remember.

He did say, however, that he did not think he was capable of committing such a horrible crime.

Commonwealth's Attorney Wilson
Farr, the prosecutor, declared sarcastically that Boersig's "bad memory" was simply a "convenient memory."

Two Women on Stand.

"You only remember what you want to remember," Farr declared in a disgusted tone. Outside of Boersig, two women were the principal witnesses of the day. One of them was fighting for vengeance, the other for mercy.

Mrs. Minnie Ridgeway, who accuses Boersig of assaulting her and killing her two daughters, created a sensation when she took the stand in the after-

Toy, Found in Egypt, Made Before 145 A.D.

New York, April 5 (By A. P.).—A child's toy wooden horse and a wax tablet recording the birth of twins in 145 A. D. were among many valuable objects discovered in the Fayum in Egypt by an expedition of the University of Michigan. Prof. Francis W.
Kelley announced upon his return here from a three months' survey of the excavations.

He said more than 3,000 pieces of clay, many tools and objects of daily life in wood, leather and other perishable materials were found in good condition.

The excavation, now in its third year, is being made on the edge of the Lybian desert.

London Yields Dainty Shoes of Roman Girls

London, April 5 (By A. P.).—Soles of dainty shoes worn by women when London was Londinium and the Romans ruled Britain have been discovered in an excavation in the Louthbury section of London.

The soles show that women in that day also wore small, pointed shoes.
They showed little wear, causing the theory that their fastidious owners discarded them as out of fashion.
High heels apparently were not worn.
One low heel still is attached to the sole.

GLASS SAYS SMITH CAN WIN PROVIDED HE DROPS WET CRY

Senator Holds Dry Issue Has No Bearing on Presidency.

WILSON GROUP SEEN TURNING TO GOVERNOR

Virginia Legislators Believed to Want Winner on Any Platform.

Declaration by Senator Glass, of Virginia, that Gov. Alfred Smith of New York can be elected President by the Democrats, caused something of a mild sensation in both Democratic and Republican political circles here yesterday.

The declaration of the senator was reported in an Associated Press dispatch received here from Asheville, N. C., quoting an interview with Senator Glass published in the Asheville Citizen.
In the course of which he declared Smith can be elected President despite the fact that he is a Catholic. He coupled with his declaration the proviso that Gov. Smith would have to let the prohibition issue alone.

Strengthening the support of Senator Glass, word has reached Washington that strong Democratic influences in Virginia have determined to back the Smith candidacy. The Richmond News-Leader, edited by John Stewart Bryan, is reported to be ready to support the New York governor's cause. The newspaper is a strong supporter of Senator Glass.

Statement by Senator.

Senator Glass was quoted as follows:
"I am sure Al Smith understands that the Presidency means nothing at all in the light of modification prohibition. The R-'s' 'ent can not change the Constitution. He can not even veto a joint resolution passed by Congress submitting the matter to the States and his influence with Congress on such an issue would be negligible."
"Yet for some reason the people who talk about electing a President on a wet issue lose sight of that particular consideration. The President has nothing to do with it. When a Democratic President, Woodrow Wilson, did veto the Volstead act, Congress thought so little of his leadership on the matter that it passed the act over his veto."

Not Party Issue.

"Prohibition is not a party issue Prohibition was not passed by the Democrats or by the Republicans but by men of both parties and with no regard for party lines. It was a moral issue."

"So why in heaven's name should the Democrats make the eighteenth amendment a party issue in the next national campaign, as though electing a wet President would affect the prohibition law? I can not believe that the sensible in the party will try anything so foolish. If they do they might just as well take the Presidency to the Republicans on a silver platter and make them a present of it. They might just as well take their party out and dump it out on the scrap heap."

Opposed Him in 1924.

In the 1924 campaign Senator Glass was one of the strong supporters of the anti-Smith movement. While he was himself an aspirant for the nomination, his influence was generally looked on as beneficial to McAdoo.

The news as to Senator Glass comes on the heels of many reports reaching Washington recently, telling of widespread Smith activity in the South. It appears that a large number of the

REBELS OF NICARAGUA REPORTED IN UTTER ROUT

End of Revolution at Hand, Says Minister, Following Cablegram.

RETREAT HELD HOPELESS

Route of the Nicaraguan rebel forces was announced last night in a cablegram received by the Nicaraguan Minister, Dr. Alejandro Cesar, and the end of the revolution is considered close at hand.

Muy Muy has fallen into the hands of the Diaz forces and the revolutionary army is in hopeless retreat, according to the advices.

The following statement was issued by Dr. Cesar:

"At 6 o'clock this morning the final offensive was started by the Diaz forces. The battle occurred at Muy Muy, where the rebels had concentrated their main forces of more than 1,000 men.

"The rebels were attacked at dawn by a government force headed by Gen.
Salvatore Reyes, Gen. Carlos Rivera, and Gen. Delgadillo. After a fierce but hopeless resistance, the rebels were forced back out of the city with great loss. While this battle was taking place a government force under Gen.
Francisco Sanchez intercepted a column of rebel troops en route from Matagua sent to reinforce the revolutionists."

"The latter were defeated and are now in utter route, while Tierra Azul has been captured and the rebel forces are now shut out from Matiguis, their source of supply and communication.
The end of the revolution is at hand."

COLUMBIA HEIGHTS VOTES TO DEMAND RECREATION CENTER

Mrs. A. G. Woodward Tells Citizens' Group That Section Is Neglected.

ASSESSOR RICHARDS
EXPLAINS NEW SYSTEM

Body Urges More Severe Penalties for Mutilation of City's Trees.

A campaign to obtain better recreational facilities in Columbia Heights was begun last night at a meeting of the Columbia Heights Citizens' association in the assembly hall of the Columbia Heights Christian church, 1435 Park road northwest.

Mr. A. G. Woodward, chairman of the recreation and amusement committee of the association, said that Columbia Heights was the most thickly populated community in the District, and yet was more lacking in proper recreational facilities than any other section.

A resolution urging the establishment of a recreational center in Columbia Heights, and requesting Congress to appropriate funds for the purchase of land on which to establish the center, was adopted unanimously by the association.

Urges Tree Safeguards.
More severe punishment should be given persons who unlawfully mutilate trees in the District, members of the association declared.

A resolution recommending that the maximum fine imposed upon persons convicted of this offense be increased from $50 to $250 was unanimously adopted. It was recommended also that the judge be allowed to impose a jail sentence in addition to the fine in the most serious cases.

William B. Richards, assessor of taxes for the District, declared that the change in the purchasing power of the dollar during the past several years has upset all calculations and valuations in his office. He pointed out that since 1915 real estate values in this city have increased from $55,000,000 to more than $1,000,000,000.

The new system of assessing the values of real estate here is more beneficial to the home owner and will bring more revenue into the tax collectors' office, he said. He pointed out that values rise more quickly in the downtown business sections than they do in residential sections.

Hesse Is Commended.
A resolution providing for the appointment of a special committee to work with other organizations in Columbia Heights to obtain the signing of restrictive covenants was adopted.
Mr. Edwin B. Hesse, superintendent of police, was commended by the association for his action in ordering members of the police force to arrest drivers of automobiles equipped with defective lights.

The present staff of officers of the association were nominated for election to their same positions for another year. Election of officers will be held at the next meeting. Alton B. Cady, president of the association, presided.

At Dental Meeting

The necessity of caring for children's teeth and the need of closer understanding and closer cooperation among parents, the dentist and the family physician were among points stressed last night by Dr. N. Talley Ballou, of the Virginia board of health, Richmond, Va., who spoke before the National Capital Dental society at George Washington University medical school, 1365 H street northwest.

Dr. Ballou urged a campaign among parents of growing children to impress on them the importance of having the teeth of boys and girls attended to in the proper manner. Approximately 60 dentists attended the meeting.

INSULTS TO MILITARY SERVICES CONDEMNED

Insults to the military services were condemned in a resolution adopted at a meeting of the Vincent B. Costello post, American Legion, last night in the board room of the District building. Several theatrical acts and the action of a judge in suspending sentence on condition that a prisoner join the coast guard service were cited.

The post approved the formation of a woman's welfare club as an auxiliary organization. A committee of 16, headed by Mrs. D. Walsh, was appointed to arrange for a theater party at Keith's theater Easter Monday night. Maj. F. M. Hart, of Stony Point, N. Y., was the speaker. Cos. Harrison Brand was admitted to membership.

VIRGINIA SENATE PASSES CONSTITUTION MEASURE

Republican Leaders Fail to Obtain More Liberal Voting Requirements.

BILL NOW IN CONFERENCE

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
Richmond, Va., April 5.—The Senate today passed in amended form the bill revising the State's constitution. Revision of the instrument originally written by George Mason and revised in 1905, was one of Gov. Byrd's campaign pledges and one of the reasons for the extra session.

As adopted by the Senate, the bill substantially embraces the recommendations of the Prentiss commission, which made an exhaustive study of the subject, dealing with the original preamble of Mason's bill of rights, which the constitution tinkers have changed back and forth in their delir-iousness, saying that the colored men-ce which had been submitted against the proposed liberalization, did not exist, and that the drastic voting qualifications were holding good citizens away from the polls and leaving the State government to the politicians.

The Republicans were given amendment, however, providing that they can have representation on election boards.
The revision must be ratified by another session of the assembly and will be by the people before becoming effective.

VIRGINIA HOUSE VOTES FOR LOWER AUTO FEE

Bill Would Reduce License Charge to 60 Cents Per 100 Pounds.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)
Richmond, Va., April 5.—By a vote of 52 to 43 the house today approved a measure to reduce the automobile license fee from 70 to 60 cents per hundred pounds, a saving of $2 on a 2,000-pound car. The measure must be given another reading, but the house opposition to it was considered to have been spent today. Whether it will pass the senate remains to be seen.

Delegate Wilbur Hall, of Loudoun county, was one of the leaders of the reduction fight, telling the members that the people had been led to believe that while there would be an increase in the gasoline tax, there would be a reduction in the license fee. This was the original program of Gov. Byrd. It seems to be the line-up that if the license reduction bill is to be passed through both houses the emergency clause will be inserted again in the gasoline tax increase bill, making the 5 cents tax effective immediately.

poses Possible Increase in

INVESTIGATION URGED INTO NEW VALUATIONS

Summer and Winter Police Uniform Advocated at Board Meeting.

Assessing what was declared to be unwarranted increases in assessments on real estate in various sections of the city in the last year, the board of directors of the Washington Chamber of Commerce last night adopted a resolution opposing any increase in the District tax rate or in the gasoline tax, and demanding an investigation of the recent increases in taxable valuations made by the District assessor.

J. B. Henderson, Charles W. Darr and Harry King led the attack on rising District taxes, each of them advocating a public hearing by the Chamber of Commerce to gather evidence of unfairly increased taxes and to ascertain more fully public sentiment.

The newspapers of Washington should take up this question, and, as the mouthpiece of the community, the District, bring to official realization of the importance of holding down taxes and the injustice of unreasonably advanced taxes, Mr. Darr declared.

Two Uniforms Sought.
A motion introduced by O. H. Campbell advocated a summer and winter uniform for policemen of the District.
Mr. King addressed the meeting and further urged the Sam Brown belt as a part of the uniform, which he said would be a protection to the guardian of the law.

Mr. King cited the case of Patrolman Leo W. K. Busch to support the amendment, contending that if Busch had worn his pistol on the outside he never would have been beaten to the "draw" by the man who fatally wounded him.

A motion by Mr. Darr, inviting the Knights of Columbus to this city for their convention in 1928, was unanimously approved. Dorsey Kyda, secretary of the chamber, was instructed to convey an invitation to the convention, which is to meet in Portland, Oreg., in August, to this city for the next convention.

Air Secretary Sees
No Subsidy in U. S.

The requirement of commercial aviation is a real airport, a matter in which the Nation's Capital is lagging, William F. McCracken, Jr., Assistant Secretary of Commerce, declared before the Civitan club luncheon in the Lafayette hotel yesterday.

Commercial aviation in the United States touches every branch of business and industry, he stated, adding that it will grow into an important arm in national defense, and it will never be subsidized by the government. In Europe aviation is heavily subsidized, not because they believe it commercially profitable, but because they realize that commercial aviation is indispensable to the national defense, he stated, adding that the method employed here is a correct one. George Harris presided.

Vienna Resident Threatened Ten Years to End Life, Children Say.

T. T. Poston, a paperhanger of Vienna, Va., had long suffered from insomnia. Nothing, it seemed, could lull him to sleep. So, last yesterday he decided to take the sleep "from which there is no awakening."

Boston, 50 years old and the father of five children, obtained a shotgun and, under the pretext of going out to hunt for an owl, stroled into the woods in back of his home. Little later he was found by a colored boy lying unconscious in the woods with a wound just above his heart.

Russell Waggoner, of Vienna, brought Poston to the Emergency hospital here, and late last night it was said he was in a critical condition. He regained consciousness before he left Vienna, and he told Mayor A. W. Leonard that he had shot himself. Poston's children told Sheriff Harvey Cross that Poston had been suffering from insomnia and that he had been threatening to commit suicide for more than ten years.

Held on Assault Charge.
Samuel Cable, a negro, 30 years old, of 1210 Eighth street northwest, was arrested by police of the First police precinct and charged with assault, following an altercation yesterday afternoon with James F. Brown, 30 years old, proprietor of store at 737 Seventh street northwest. Cable was treated at the Emergency hospital following his arrest for a badly lacerated lip he received when Brown is said to have hit him in the mouth.

House Committee Fears Loss

ALEXANDRIA'S MOVE INTO COURTS AWAITED

Both Senator Ball and Delegate Decline to Comment on Situation.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) Richmond, Va., April 5.—There were some more urgent messages from Arlington county civic workers to Delegate C. T. Jesse today, but they suggested the reflex action of a chicken with its head cut off. Their county incorporation bill is dead.

The house committee on towns and cities, headed by Delegate C. A. Bin-clair, of Prince William county, reported to the house today that the bill had features which "vitally affected" the whole State. Presumably these features were the fact, developed by opponents of the bill, that the State roads in the county would be taken over by "municipality," if the county was incorporated, and that the State would have to pay half of the expenses of the courts set up.

To be consistent the committee similarly dealt with a bill regarding subdivisions in Richmond. Admittedly the committee's action established a precedent. The Senate never gave the Arlington county bill a thought other than that it was purely a local matter.

Alexandria Expanding.
With the bill dead, interest has turned to the question of whether Arlexandria is to move in the near future to annex the Jefferson district of Arlington county, including the Potomac yards. That Alexandria will move through the courts to do this seems to be generally admitted. Those who have had to do with the matter from Alex-andria's viewpoint give out assurance, however, that this move will not develop within the "reasonable" future.
Yet there is some suggestion that the move may be made immediately, now that the incorporation bill has been killed.

It has not been so very long since Alexandria did lop off a portion of not only this county but of Fairfax county, it is pointed out. Arlington county spokesmen pointed out that Alexandria enterprises have been extending their gas and water mains just as far into Arlington as they could.

Neither Senator Frank L. Ball, who sponsored the incorporation bill, nor Delegate Jesse would make any formal statement. The senator let it be known, however, that there was nothing further he could do.
The senator was not in favor of incorporation, but his attitude was that the county should have the opportunity of voting on the matter.

Mr. Jesse's position was that if the question had developed to the point of an issue there might be grounds for an election, but at this stage, as he saw it, there was no sentiment for incorporation; therefore, it was a needless expense to provide for an election.

Denial that his wife had taken any part in the hearing before the Richmond legislative committee on the Arlington county incorporation bill was made by Senator Edwin B. Cawley, who was one of the committee members.
Through an error in transmission of the news story from a Post correspondent, Mrs. Cawley was named when Mrs. Claude Swanson Semones, of Aurora Hills, Va., was referred to.
Semones declared that her protesting removal of the committee's action was William O. Gloth, of Arlington county, at the hearing were made in a joking manner and purely in fun after the hearing had adjourned.

The time honored three R's have been changed to mean "rah, rah, rah," and the keynote phrase of the modern college is "attaboy," Arthur Deering Call, editor of the Advocate of Peace, told the Parent-Teacher association of the Peabody High school, at a meeting in the school yesterday. The future well-fare of the nation rests with college trained men and women, Mr. Call said.
Claus Schwartz, principal of Stuart the new school probably will be completed by May 1. Mrs. Harry N. Stull outlined the purpose of and plans for the physical examination in the next few weeks of children who will enter from committee chairmen, including Mrs. G. W. Lady, Mrs. Henry Jager, Mrs.

Driver of Manslaughter Charge.

Franklin Bicknell, of Bethesda, Md., was acquitted of manslaughter, with which he was charged for having struck with his automobile and killed Walter Lee Sears, a soldier from Fort Humphreys, Va., the night of last June 19.
Sears and a companion, Stanley P.
Kelly, another soldier from Fort Humphreys, were killed by the Bicknell automobile while walking along the Rockville pike, about a mile north of Bethesda.

The manslaughter charge was preferred after Bicknell, a garage proprietor, was accused of having been driving at a reckless speed. The trial lasted a few hours and the jury returned the acquittal verdict after a half hour.
Bicknell was defended by Charles W.
Woodward, of Rockville. State Attorney Robert B. Peter, Jr., prosecuted the case. Judge Robert B. Peter, father of the prosecutor, presided at the trial.
It is expected that a second indictment charging manslaughter in connection with the killing of Kelly will be none prosced.

morning, while on her way to church, was located last night in Newport News, Va.

A telegram was received at police headquarters last night by Capt. Walter Emerson, night chief of detectives, from police at Newport News, stating the girl had been located and was well. While police of Washington and nearby cities were searching for the girl, it developed yesterday that George Lewis, 10 years old, a child of the Union station, had been told of Miss Currier's plans to "go away."

The girl, who had been missing since morning shortly before she disappeared and told him she was going "far away," he said. The girl, however, implored Lewis to keep the fact secret. He said that although he knew police were searching for her, he did not feel at liberty to break the girl's confidence until yesterday, when he learned through the newspapers that the parents of the missing girl feared for her safety.

Rich Farmer Fined $50 FOR CRUELTY TO CATTLE

Witnesses at Fairfax Tell of Starving Animals on Olin Offutt Lands.

FACES FEDERAL CHARGE

Olin Offutt, wealthy farmer of Fairfax county, Va., was fined $50 and costs of $4.50 yesterday by Justice of the Peace John T. Molling, of Fairfax county, at Falls Church on a charge of "inhumane treatment of cattle" on his stock farm in Fairfax county.
According to the testimony of witnesses, Offutt left cattle on his pasture lands without sufficient food or adequate shelter in the winter time. Inclement weather prevented the cattle from leaving the fields to seek food and shelter.
It was testified. Photographs of the cattle and of several dead cattle were submitted.

Offutt declared that he had left sufficient food for the cattle, but on cross-examination by the prosecution admitted that two animals could eat up the supply he left in two months. Offutt was defended by Attorney F. D. Richardson, who noted an appeal from the decision of the court. Charles Pickett and S. S. McCandlish, represented the State Humane society of Richmond, Va.

Miss Blanche Finley, executive officer of the humane society; Mrs. M. R.
Blumenberg, vice president of the Animal Rescue league of Washington; Commonwealth Attorney William C.
Gloth and Sheriff Howard B. Fields, both of Arlington county, testified to conditions on the farm.

Offutt left the courtroom he was arrested by a Baltimore United States marshal on a warrant sworn out by O.
L. Lockwood, of the United States Department of Agriculture, charging him with transporting cattle in interstate commerce without a permit.

Taken before United States Commissioner John Barton Phillips, in Alexandria, Offutt was released under $1,000 bond to await the action of the Baltimore grand jury on the Federal charge.
Miss Finley declared the fine was "entirely inadequate" and that she and others "had hoped for a prison sentence."

"Such a small fine could not be justified in view of the terrible conditions found among the animals on the Offutt farm," she declared. "The law provides a maximum sentence of $500 fine and a year in prison. This case is an instance of very great and flagrant cruelty, and a sentence of only a fine of one-tenth of the maximum certainly should not be considered adequate."

CHILDREN MADE ILL

Two From Fairfax Fall Unconscious and Are Revived in Hospital.

Carbon monoxide gas, escaping from a running motor of a Winchester, Va., Washington motor bus, parked at the local terminal at Ninth and C streets northwest, early last night overcame two children, passengers on the bus.
Mary J. Head, 11 years old, and Jack Matthy, 7 years old, both of Fairfax, Va., were made ill by the poisonous gases and taken to the Emergency hospital, unconscious in a taxicab for treatment.
After first aid treatment they were taken to the home of Edwin Booth, a friend, of 1918 Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

According to police, the two children entered the bus about 5 o'clock last night, several minutes before the bus was scheduled to depart. Curtis Funkhauser, of Winchester, Va., operator of the vehicle, said the motor was running steadily before the children entered from the terminal other passengers, who were unaffected by the fumes, noticed the children reel and collapse.

REED OPENS ATTACK ON THE GOOD FAITH OF SAPIRO'S ACTS

Question of Affiliation With Opposing Organizations Raised in Trial.

LAWYER ADMITS FEES OF U. S. GRAIN GROWERS

Had Denied Vigorously He Worked for Corporation, Despite Entries.

Detroit, April 5 (By A. P.).—Aaron Sapiro's good faith in the organizing of farmers cooperatives was assailed today by Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, chief of Henry Ford's counsel in the Chicago lawyer's $1,000,000 libel suit against the automobile manufacturer.

He asserted Sapiro had been guilty of improper work as an attorney, that affiliations with opposing organizations "touched on his good faith" and that the income losses Sapiro traced to articles printed in Ford's Dearborn Independent might have been occasioned "by his own misconduct."

Sapiro, under cross-examination by the wily Senator, denied repeatedly that he ever had for "one second" represented the United States Grain Growers, Inc., or accepted a fee from them, denying two entries to that effect in his office records, but finally admitted that he had accepted $750 for legal services.

Long Letter Read.

His admission came after Senator Reed had read into the record a long letter written by Sapiro to the pooling committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation. He said he thought that the letter had been written prior to organization of the United States Grain Growers, but the document revealed that it had been written after that group was organized.

Sapiro had denied his attack, which was a revelation of one of Ford's lines of defense, in the absence of the jury.

He had wound deviously to the point through the introduction of letters and questioning of Sapiro about his relations and affiliations with the American Farm Bureau Federation, United States Grain Growers and other grain groups.

William Henry Gallagher, counsel for Sapiro, objected to the trend of the cross-examination and asserted it was leading nowhere. Reed demanded the jury be sent out.

"One of our contentions is Mr. Sapiro was not practicing law at all in the ordinary way," he began. "He is promoting various organizations in an endeavor to gain control of them or obtain employment by them, and when he could not gain control he undertook to wreck them. All this was improper work for an attorney and it naturally would destroy his reputation as an attorney or even as an organizer. His income would be adversely affected by it."

The senator said what he wished to show at that point, was that Sapiro held himself in an extremely receptive mood if he did not actually solicit employment by the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The employment, Reed said, was not obtained at that time, but Sapiro "managed to get into the committee of seventeen and drew his fees from that organization." Reed connected the plaintiff then and in later testimony with the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., and the American Wheat Growers, associated.

OLD CONFEDERATES FORGET THEIR YEARS IN REUNION CHEER

VETERAN, 82, MARRIES; MET BRIDE LAST YEAR

Woman, 59, Gets Consent of Parents—Texan Is Killed Going to Convention.

Tampa, Fla., April 5 (By A. P.).—The burden of heroic years concealed under a mantle of gayety in the renewal of old acquaintances, some of them unrefreshed since Appomattox, the gray-clad veterans who followed Lee continued to arrive here today for their thirty-seventh reunion.

The veterans sadly commented that most likely the 8,000 had dropped to something like 8,000 effective.

With no stated program for the day, the old soldiers paraded the streets, the more active on foot, others in automobiles provided by Tampa citizens.

Some of the veterans, however, were in the "Fair grounds," where the "headquarters camp" is located, wearing yams, renewing acquaintances or listening to the old-time tunes sawed out by itinerant fiddlers.

The colors of the Confederacy alternated with Stars and Stripes strung overhead on all principal streets, and fitting canopies for the mobilization of the decimated remnants of Lee's legions.

Address on Women.

The first formal business of the reunion was to be accomplished this afternoon, when the Confederate Memorial association met at the Tampa Bay hotel.

United States Senator Park Trammell, of Florida, was to deliver the stated address of the session on "The Women of the Sixties."

While the meeting was in progress an informal reception in honor of the visiting sponsor staff, was to be given by the local sponsors and the sons.

Division commanders of the U. S. V. and S. C. V. today were arranging to establish separate headquarters.

Admiral O. Wright, commanding officer of the "Confederate navy" was on deck and aids were recording the visits of former seamen of the Confederacy.

Veteran, 82, Marries.

Tampa, Fla., April 5 (By A. P.).—Aaron L. Hurt, 82 years old, of Honaker, Va., one of the heroic band that charged up the hill at Gettysburg, was inducted into the army of benedictus here today upon the eve of the thirty-seventh reunion of the soldiers of the South.

The bride was Mrs. Fannie Graves, 59 years old, of Chattanooga, Tenn.

The romance dates from the reunion last year in Birmingham, Ala., when the two were introduced.

Original plans called for performance of the ceremony by the Rev. J. M. Smith, also a veteran, from Marshall, Tex. Mr. Smith, who morning waited at the appointed place for more than two hours before a telephone message informed him that the wedding was to be postponed for a short while to obtain the consent of the bride's parents.

The blessing obtained, the principals arrived just as Mr. Smith departed. In his absence the ceremony was performed by W. D. V. Snipes, Presbyterian minister and superintendent of Tampa schools.

Never an Untied Knot.

Mr. Smith told newspaper men that he has been a marrying couple for 32 years and has never had a knot come untied yet.

Mr. Hurt served with the Twenty-ninth Virginia Regiment, Company G. The bridegroom, erect and active in a gray, faultlessly tailored uniform, but for the military bearing, was a perfect picture of the old soldier.

The bride, a small, brown-eyed woman with face unlined, will go to Mr. Hurt's home in Virginia after the reunion.

Tampa, Fla., April 5 (By A. P.).—A man identified as J. A. Nowlin, Confederate veteran from Houston, Tex., fell from his train between Argyle and Ponce de Leon last night on the way to the reunion here and was killed.

It was stated in a message from Defuniak Springs today. The body was found on the railroad track by section hands this morning. The message stated.

U. S. Consul Loses Plea for Immunity

Paris, April 5 (By A. P.).—Donald Bigelow, American consul, today lost his plea of diplomatic immunity from prosecution in a suit brought against him by the Russian Princess Zizianoff.

She is suing for 100,000 francs damages, following Mr. Bigelow's refusal to grant her a visa to visit the United States.

The princess maintains that the refusal constitutes defamation of character. The case has been set for hearing July 12.

At the time the princess was refused a visa Mr. Bigelow was quoted as calling her a former enemy spy.

Mellon Pays Call At Elysee Palace

Paris, April 5 (By A. P.).—Andrew W. Mellon, American ambassador to France, today made an unofficial call at the Elysee palace this morning to present his respects to President Doumergue.

The cabinet was in session, however, and he left without being received by the president.

Secretary Mellon came to France to see his daughter, Mrs. David K. Bruce, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis here.

A circus recently negotiated to buy him, but gave up the idea when it was learned the cost of transporting in specially built car, would be prohibitive.

Piqued by Assembly, Road Engineer Resigns

Annapolis, Md., April 5.—Declaring a "signal" discourtesy was visited upon him in the passage by the legislature of a bill designed to oust him from office, Robert L. Burwell today tendered his resignation as road engineer for Anne Arundel county, which was accepted by the board of county commissioners. The resignation becomes effective May 1.

Mr. Burwell, a graduate of Cornell university, "has filled this office for the last six years. His resignation comes as an aftermath of the Democratic feud of last fall. Mr. Burwell is the brother-in-law of Ridgely P. Melvin, who ran as an independent candidate for senator, but was defeated. Though Mr. Burwell never taken active part in political campaigns, the "Democratic bosses" sponsored a bill to repeal the old law under which he was appointed.

Virginia Railway's Net Revenue Soars

New York, April 5 (By A. P.).—The annual report of the Virginia railway for 1926, made public today, shows net income of $6,717,047, after taxes and charges, equivalent, after preferred dividends, to $16.11 a share on the common stock. This compared with a net income of $3,859,777, or $6.98 a share, on the common stock in 1925.

Owing largely to the stimulus in the export coal business, arising from the British miners' strike, gross revenues rose last year to $23,878,538, as against $18,822,170 in 1925.

SNYDER-GRAY MURDER TRIAL IS POSTPONED

April 18 Made Opening Date; Change Is Due to Holy Week.

New York, April 5 (By A. P.).—The illness of Judge, and the fact that the date for the trial was set for holy week, today combined to bring about the postponement until April 18 of the opening of the Snyder-Gray murder trial.

The principals, Henry Ruth Gray, co-seller, and Albert Snyder, jointly accused of the murder of the woman's husband, Albert Snyder, art editor, will be tried together, unless, it is said, a move for separate trials is made very soon.

The trial will open in Long Island City before Supreme Court Justice Townsend Scudder. The case will be tried in the supreme court because of the continued illness of County Judge Frank F. Adel, who otherwise would preside.

Justice Scudder issued a statement that no photographers would be allowed in the courtroom or in the corridors. There will be no "blue-ribbon" jury, he added.

Ahmed Zogu's Family En Route to Vienna

Bari, Italy, April 5 (By A. P.).—The mother, four sisters and a brother-in-law of President Ahmed Zogu, of Albania, arrived here from Albania on the steamer Gallipoli today and departed immediately for Vienna.

Household furnishings belonging to Ahmed Zogu's family passed through this city en route to Austria several weeks ago.

Ahmed Zogu, interviewed by a correspondent of the Associated Press at Tirana, the Albanian capital, yesterday said, "Albania is absolutely quiet at present, but there is much apprehension as to what may happen if the powers are unable to do away with the ominous menace on our northern frontier."

This was a reference to Jugoslavia.

Ross Sues to Revoke Trust Funds for Wife

New York, April 5 (By A. P.).—Commander K. L. Ross, Canadian millionaire and turfman, brought two suits in the supreme court today to revoke trust funds he created in 1915 in favor of his wife, Mrs. Ethel Adine Ross. The funds aggregate $1,250,000.

Commander Ross contended he had made demands on the trustees with the consent of his wife to cancel the deeds in trust, which the trustees refused to do.

The commander alleged that the trusts are void because they attempted to alter a prenuptial agreement made in 1902 with the late Miss Ethel Adine Matthews, of Toronto.

REPORTS ON CONDITION OF FERDINAND CONFLICT

Better, Says Bucharest, but Vienna Hears He Is Not Able to Take Food.

Paris, April 5 (By A. P.).—Improvement in the condition of King Ferdinand of Roumania, was reported by his physicians in a bulletin issued at Bucharest, that the temperature was reported lower and unofficial reports said the attack of grip from which he has been suffering has become less acute.

Advices from other points, however, are less encouraging. A dispatch from Vienna says it has been learned there that the king has not been able to take nourishment today, with the result that he is much weaker.

Prince Carol, the king's exiled son, remained tonight at his home at Neuilly, near Paris. He received several members of the Roumanian colony today, but no authorization came for him to enter Roumania and go to his father's bedside.

The Roumanian legation professes complete ignorance of the prince's movements and intentions. "The prince has been staying up late nights, awaiting word from Bucharest, and regularly leaves orders when he receives a telegram or long-distance telephone call."

He has installed some office furniture in his villa, which is interpreted in some quarters as indicating that he plans to start some sort of organization. His visitors, however, refuse to discuss his plans or to comment upon the announcement last night that the Roumanian government had taken over the succession to the Roumanian throne.

The police guard at Prince Carol's villa has been tripled. His strength was increased, it was understood, at the request of the Roumanian legation. The French authorities readily consented—both the government and the legation being unwilling to risk a spectacular return of the Prince of Roumania, with disorders probably resulting.

Neither the prince nor his companion, Mme. Magda Lupescu, shows any liking for their heavy police guard. The latter several times has taken policemen severely to task when they attempted to follow the pair into Paris.

Bucharest, April 5 (By A. P.).—The condition of King Ferdinand of Roumania, who is seriously ill with grip, showed little change during the day. He has gone down.

An official bulletin issued at noon said that his majesty had passed a somewhat better night and that amelioration in his condition had been noted. All classes in Roumania are watching with intense anxiety the monarch's struggle for life. The churches and mosques were filled with worshippers praying for his recovery.

Wales Will Visit Spain This Month

Madrid, April 5 (By A. P.).—The Prince of Wales will visit Spain this month, it was announced here today. Traveling incognito, he is due to arrive here April 22 and remain about eight days.

Unconfirmed reports of an early visit of the prince to Spain have been current for some time. They have given rise to discussions of a match between the prince and Infanta Beatrice of Spain.

Alleged Black Hand Chief and 400 Held

Apermo, Sicily, April 5 (By A. P.).—Giovanni Basile, a notary public of Vicaruzzi, declared to be the guiding spirit of the black handers throughout Sicily, was arrested today with 400 other alleged members of criminal bands.

The arrests were made in the largest raid of criminal elements since Premier Mussolini ordered the local prefect to conduct a clean-up campaign.

New Supreme Court Constituted in Chile

Santiago, Chile, April 5 (By A. P.).—A new Chilean supreme court has been constituted following the withdrawal of five members of that body. The new court, which is headed by Ricardo Anguita, was completed by elevating to the appeals court the supreme bench.

Discord between the cabinet and the supreme court has been reported from time to time since the cabinet inaugurated its drastic policy of stamping out opposition. Saturday, Javier Figueroa, president of the supreme court, was placed under arrest in his home. He is a brother of the president of the republic.

Four others were seriously injured. The can exploded when used to revive a fire.

WAR PREVENTIVE IN WILL FOR PEACE, U.S. TOLD BY BRIAND

More Vital Than Technical Disarming, He Says in His Anniversary Message.

FIGHTING OF AMERICANS IS LAUDED BY PAINLEVÉ

Entered Strife to Defend the Ideal of Humanity, War Minister Declares.

Paris, April 5 (By A. P.).—More important than technical disarmament is the will for peace, declared Aristide Briand, foreign minister, in a message sent to the American people through the Associated Press, on the occasion of the tenth anniversary of the entry of the United States into the world war.

M. Briand's message, sent on the heels of France's refusal to participate in the three-power naval disarmament conference at Geneva, insisted that the paramount necessity in preventing war is the cultivation in the civilized world of a spirit of peace interpreted through a "policy of peace" on the part of all nations.

France added the foreign minister, has rebuilt her armaments with one idea—defense—and in her new universal service law "she tends for the first time to suppress the very idea of war being profitable, and places its shonorable burdens upon every one, men and women."

Told of Declaration.

"I have not forgotten," recalled the foreign minister, "that I was first to learn by an official communication from Mr. Sharp, then American Ambassador, that the Federal government had taken the decision, which was to exercise so considerable an influence in the history of the world war."

"Now, in the problems of peace France and America are following different roads, but reach toward the same goal. Disarmament can come about only by the will to peace among all nations. In that the thought of America will ever be certain to have a sympathetic accord in the thought of France."

"If there were need of it between the two great democracies, in order to give high testimony of their devotion to peace and to furnish a solemn example to other peoples, France would be willing to enter into an engagement with America mutually outlawing war, to use your way of expressing it."

Familiar to Signatories.

"The renunciation of war as an instrument of national policy is a conception already familiar to the signatories of the league covenant, and the Locarno treaties."

"Any engagement subscribed to in the same spirit by the United States toward another nation, such as France, would greatly contribute in the eyes of the world to enlarge and fortify the foundation on which the international policy of peace is being erected. Thus the two great friendly nations, equally devoted to the cause of peace, would furnish the world the best illustration of the truth that the most effective and immediately to be obtained is not disarmament, but the practice of peace."

In conclusion, M. Briand sent a message of welcome to the American legislators, who will return to France for their annual convention in Paris next September. He said he hoped they would be as numerous as possible and would be able to take home with them the memory of France at work—"A France as desirous of peace as she was ardent in war."

Paul Painlevé is war minister today, just as he was ten years ago. He remarked today that he was sitting in

Will Rogers Sees Cavalry Dehorsed to Promote Peace

Special to The Washington Post.

Manhattan, Kans., April 5.—Just today visited Fort Riley, our advanced cavalry school. I saw all the cavalry in Europe, but these boys have got it on all of them. I suppose, though, as soon as we get all our ships sunk at the disarmament conference we will start de-horsing our cavalry.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

the same office and at the same desk as when the news reached him, in 1917, that the United States had entered the great conflict.

"I was able to measure the effect of this decision," M. Painlevé informed the Associated Press, "but the technical experts were unanimous in refusing to admit the possibility of America making any powerful contribution in arms. Nevertheless, 2,000,000 quickly trained American soldiers were brought across the Atlantic, with enormous stores of war material, despite the submarines."

"There are, in America and elsewhere, soured souls who regret that the United States abandoned its isolation to join in the quarrels of the Old World. That will not be the judgment of the future. Coming generations, on the contrary, will admire the heroism with which great people deliberately engaged in a war whose horrors they knew to defend not their homes but their interests, but an ideal of humanity."

SINCLAIR'S SENTENCE TO BE FIXED MONDAY

Punishment of Oil Magnate to Be Based on Single Offense.

Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate, whose Mammoth Oil Co. leased the naval oil reserve known as Teapot Dome, in Wyoming, will be sentenced Monday on an indictment charging him with contempt of the Senate in connection with his refusal to answer four questions propounded by the Senate committee on public lands and surveys which investigated the oil lease cases. He will be sentenced for but one offense and not for four separate offenses. Sentence will be imposed under section 102 of the revised statutes which calls for a penalty of a fine from $100 to $1,000 and imprisonment of from one month to one year in jail.

District Attorney Peyton Gordon insisted that Justice William H. Taft, who presided at the trial in criminal court, was obliged to sentence Mr. Sinclair on each of the four counts of the indictment, the theory being that he committed four separate offenses. The court overruled this contention yesterday.

George P. Hoover, of counsel for Mr. Sinclair, characterized this theory as absurd and supported his statement by a review of other similar contempt cases under section 102 of the revised statutes in which the courts have considered the refusal to answer a series of questions at one appearance as but one offense. On the same day sentence is imposed on the United States Supreme court will hear arguments on Mr. Sinclair's plea to set aside the orders of the lower courts which conceded his lease to Teapot Dome.

Haynes to Follow
Department Policy

Notice that the past policies of the government with regard to dry enforcement would be continued was given by Roy A. Haynes, acting prohibition commissioner, in an order to the officers, employees and field agents of the prohibition unit, it was learned yesterday.

This notice sets at rest rumors here that Mr. Haynes immediately upon taking office would make innovations in the methods of dry enforcement which have obtained in the past. The notice also stated that the prohibition unit, it was learned yesterday.

France's refusal to join in the American-proposed naval limitation conference at Geneva, even as an observer, is received by President Coolidge with disappointment, but he does not believe it will materially affect the negotiations planned by the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

Plans for the conference to be held after June 1, will go forward, it was said yesterday at the White House, and meanwhile the President is hopeful that Italy, who refused, as did France, to be an active participant, may decide to sit at the table as an observer.

Viewed at the White House, the French refusal, the President said, was not suggested to some officials that France merely is reserving decision and may at a later date join the three-power parley.

Cites New Element.

The concluding passage of the note reads: "If (the French government) certainly would have liked to be able to decide now as to the cordial invitation which has been sent it. It likes, at least, to think that the American government will appreciate the reasons which make it a duty under the present circumstances to defer any decision as to the possible participation, even as a simple observer, in conversations on a limited subject touching on the question of disarmament."

Reiterating its contention that it can not allow "the weakening of the authority of the public law of nations already invested with the problem of disarmament in which naval armaments can not be separated from land and ships themselves," the Paris note declared a new element had been introduced "which imposes itself upon us."

The new circumstance, the note set forth, is the favorable reception which the French proposal for prescribing a total tonnage for optional allotment to various types of lighter craft.

France Favors Limitation.

Geneva, April 5 (By A. P.).—After seeming perilously near breaking down today during discussion of naval armament limitation, the League of Nations preparatory commission for drafting a disarmament treaty reached a compromise and adjourned for the night in optimistic mood.

Falling to agree earlier in the day on whether to limit both naval and land armaments or merely warships, the commission took up the system of limitation to be applied to warships themselves. France favored limitation of tonnage as a whole, leaving each nation free to divide its tonnage as to classes of ships in whatever manner its interests might require.

After Viscount Cecil, of England, had insisted on the latter system, Paul Boncour, France, announced France's readiness to publish her naval building programs in advance, even including them in the disarmament treaty and promising to notify signatories of the treaty immediately if any change were made in them.

Bids for Construction
Of Six Cruisers Opened

Bids for construction of six light cruisers were opened yesterday by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur. Three of the vessels are to be completed in 36 months and the remaining three in not less than 48 months. The six will cost nearly $70,000,000.

The Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Co. submitted the lowest bid, $10,642,000 for one cruiser, or $10,488,000 each for two. Two other companies submitted bids. Under the department stipulation no company could bid for more than two. Other figures were submitted by navy yards, but these will not be made public until after navy experts have had opportunity to study them to ascertain their ranking with the civilian companies, Secretary Wilbur said.

The bid submitted by the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, of Fore River, Mass., was second lowest. It was $10,475,000 for one, $10,540,000 for two, and $10,540,000 for three. The bid submitted by the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, of Fore River, Mass., was second lowest. It was $10,475,000 for one, $10,540,000 for two, and $10,540,000 for three.

The department had called for alternative proposals whereby it would provide engines for the cruisers. Two firms, bids on the machinery, the General Electric Co. proposing to furnish six sets of machinery at $385,000 each, and the Westinghouse Co. bidding from $321,000 to $385,000. Awards will be made later.

J. Butler Wright
Guest at Luncheon

Assistant Secretary of State J. Butler Wright, who soon will leave for Hungary where he has been appointed minister, was given a luncheon yesterday at Raucher's by the men with whom he served in Squadron A, New York cavalry.

Mr. Wright spoke of the benefit derived from military service. He also commended the spirit of the men who formed the famous Squadron A. Experiences while serving with the organization in the Spanish-American war, the Mexican revolution and the world war were related by the other members. They were: Assistant Secretary of the Navy Theodore Douglas Robinson, former Commissioner of Internal Revenue, W. Martin Williams, Maj. John D. Kilpatrick, Charles P. Carusi, Stephen Barker, Wirt Howe, Arthur P. Crosby, Henry M. Ward, Philip P. Gardiner and Richard S. Harvey, Brig. Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews also is a member, but was unable to attend.

Thompson Hopes to Make Chicago a Real Seaport

Reiterates Slogans of "America First" and "Get Out of Europe"—Promises to Do Away With the Bread Line.

Chicago, April 5 (By A. P.).—William Thompson, Chicago's new Republican mayor, in a statement issued immediately after his election was assured tonight, reiterated his pre-election platform. "I pledge my vote and support for America first, a greater Chicago and a deep waterway."

His statement opened with a 500-word repetition of his stand with regard to international issues, which played a large part in his campaign. He lauded the ideals and principles of George Washington, urging that "We get out of Europe and stay out."

Recalling there were 700,000 members of the America First association, which was organized by him to send "100 per cent Americans to Congress," he declared that if necessary, America First associations would be organized in every State of the Union.

In regard to our local situation, I will surround myself with a cabinet competent to force Chicago forward again as I did when I was mayor before. I will do away with the bread line that exists today, by stimulating business, and I will work on for an early completion of the waterway which makes Chicago a seaport town like the Illinois and Mississippi rivers, which was made possible by the Federal legislation I was able to secure through the help of Representative Madden, United States Senator Charles S. Deneen and President Calvin Coolidge, who signed the bill on January 21, last.

"We will renew our old booster slogan, 'Throw away your hammer and get a horn and blow.' With deep appreciation of the confidence imposed in me through the magnificent vote given me today by the Republicans, Jeffersonians, Democrats and Socialists, I am mindful of the great responsibility placed upon me and in my endeavor to meet the expectations of my supporters."

In his statement Mayor-elect Thompson said he would out from the public schools Supt. William McAndrews, who, the mayor-elect said, "look the spirit of '76 from the schoolroom walls and is responsible for histories used in courses for higher grades of our public school teachers, which carry paragraphs stating that Washington was a rebel and a traitor and King George was America's best friend."

After an inspection of polling places, John Stege, captain of detectives, viewed the election as being "as quiet as a Quaker funeral." Authorities insisted the Drucel affair had thrown a shadow over the election.

The only shooting reported to officials was at a polling place in a negro section of the Twenty-eighth ward by a policeman on duty there. No one was injured as far as was learned.

In addition to a new mayor, Chicago today also elected 11 of 50 aldermen in a run off resulting from the primary campaign, along with a city treasurer and city clerk. The returns indicated Thompson's ticket had carried all.

Bond issues totaling more than $21,000,000 were approved by the voters and the money will be used for street improvements and other civic betterments, including the straightening of the Chicago river. Two sections were annexed by vote today, and voters also approved home rule over public utilities.

serving as alderman, county commissioner and as war-time mayor, during which his designation of Chicago as "the sixth German city" was roundly criticized.

As the polls closed many calls for assistance were received at the election commissioners' office. The screams of terrified women drove out the voice of a judge at one precinct who telephoned the election commissioners' office for help.

In another precinct a gang of armed men entered and drove out election officials just as the polls were closed. A picture of William Hale Thompson was shot from the front window in the home of Mrs. Abbie Press, a relative of the former mayor by marriage.

In the precinct where the election officials were driven out, the gunmen apparently losing their nerve, fled shortly afterward without disturbing the rest of the election records or the ballot box.

Failure of hoodlums to attempt to demolish precincts in the river wards was a political spectacle. The killing of Vincent "Schmer" Drucel, North Side beer baron, by a policeman yesterday in the rounding up of gangsters and other trouble makers in pre-election raids.

Mrs. Louis Boersig, wife of the accused man, created as much interest as Boersig himself. She was in tears throughout her period on the stand, and became so choked with emotion at times, that she was unable to talk.

M'CARL TO REVIEW GOVERNMENT'S NEW AIR MAIL CONTRACT

Duties Require Him to Examine Papers, Declares Comptroller General.

NO ACTION EXPECTED WITHOUT COMPLAINTS

Postoffice Chief Denies That Henderson Opposed Fliers' Interest in Bid.

(By the Associated Press.)

The Postoffice Department's contract with National Air Transport, Inc., for the Eastern section of the transcontinental air mail service between New York and Chicago will be reviewed by Comptroller General McCarl, but he said last night that unless some complaint is made he would take no special action.

Mr. McCarl explained the duties of his office require him to review all such contracts to determine whether they are regularly awarded and all attendant requirements fulfilled. Late yesterday he had received no complaint either from the department or from unsuccessful bidders.

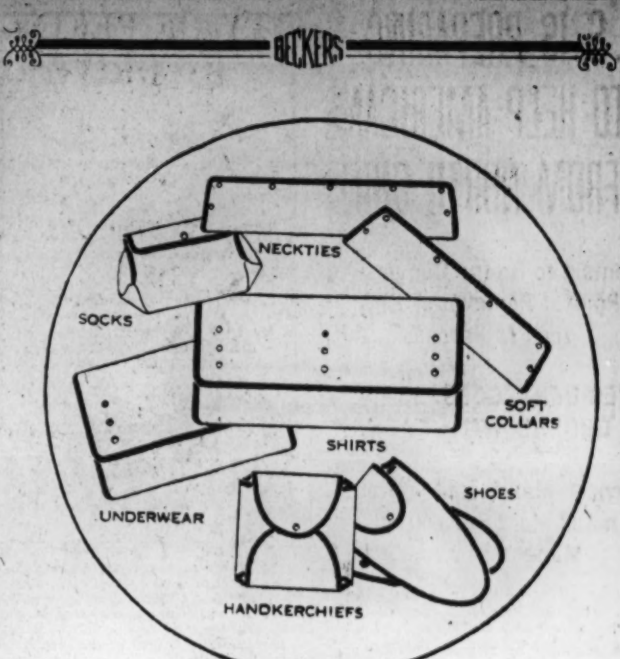

After receiving a petition from the North American Airways, Inc., which also bid for the contract, Postmaster General New declared he would not reopen the bids or delay awarding the contract. An opinion by Charles Evans Hughes accompanied the petition, in which he upheld the interests of fourteen government air pilots who were said to have agreed to subscribe to $100,000 in stock of the North American Airways, provided that company obtained the contract.

Denies Henderson's Part.

In a formal statement Mr. New denied Paul Henderson, former Assistant Postmaster General and now general manager of the National Air Transport, Inc., had protested the bid of the North American Airways on the ground that the fliers' interest was in violation of the law.

"Most of the comment on this matter seems to have been based on an entire misapprehension," Mr. New said. Col. Henderson filed no such protest, and while a question of the validity of the contract was raised, it was not raised by him.

"It was raised by the law officers of the department with reference to a ruling of the comptroller general, which was made public March 15. The contracts with pilots was a very minor consideration and not the important one on which the decision of the Postmaster General was reached. Before reaching this decision, I conferred with the War Department, the Department of Justice and the comptroller general, each of whom has all the facts."

COOKING SCHOOL ECHOES

WHOLESOME
Fried Foods
—without smoke or odor

NATURALLY when it comes to frying, the most important ingredient is the fat; so I am going to tell you why I prefer Crisco.

In the first place, Crisco fries the food to perfection before it is hot enough to smoke. So there will be no smoke or unpleasant odor in your kitchen or the rest of the house—no smoke to heat your face while you are frying and smell up your hair and clothes.

Another thing, when food is fried in plenty of Crisco, it is beautifully fried with a crisp, golden brown outside and a tender, digestible inside.

Crisco is odorless, too, and does not carry the taste of one food to another, so you can use the same Crisco over and over again for frying different things.

Crisco Cheese Balls

Crisco Apple Fritters

Crisco Potato Cakes

Crisco Apple Griddle Cakes

To every three cups of cold mashed potatoes add one well beaten egg. Shape into flat cakes about one inch thick. Put enough Crisco into a frying pan to cover the bottom well. When hot, put cakes in and brown on one side. Add more Crisco if necessary. Turn with pancake turner and brown on the other side.

Three cups of potatoes will make nine or ten cakes.

U. S. IS PREPARING TO HELP AMERICANS FROM NORTH CHINA

Tientsin to Be the Converging Point if Removal of Citizens Is Forced.

PRESIDENT GOES OVER GROUND WITH CABINET

Silence Maintained on Demand for Reparations Made to Chinese.

(By the Associated Press.)
With submission of Nanking reparations demands by Minister MacMurray to Peking in concert with the British and Japanese believed to be imminent, the Washington administration has definitely turned its attention to the possibility that it may become necessary to rescue Americans in north China from the growing menace of antiferrism.

Both the State Department and the White House maintained silence as to the nature of the demands and whether they will be identical with or merely similar to those of the other powers.
Nor were any diplomatic advisers touching the continuing evacuation of Americans from north China made public.
The entire Chinese situation was canvassed, however, at a prolonged conference between President Coolidge and his cabinet and upon its close it was announced at the White House that in the event of forced evacuation of Peking and other northern cities, Tientsin would be the concentration point for Americans, as Shanghai is the southern assembly center.

T. S. Troops in Tientsin.

Tientsin, about 100 miles southeast of Peking on the Peking-Mukden railroad, is nearly 25 miles from the coast on the Pei-Ho river, but of easy access by smaller warships. Two battalions of the Fifteenth infantry, about 800 men are stationed there as part of the international guard along the railroad.
The nature of any new development prompting the administration to remain undisturbed, but a large group fully outline in advance the plan which military and naval forces will pursue in protecting Americans remained. Nevertheless, that official advice forecast eruptions in the territory between the Yangtze river and Peking more serious than at Nanking when the nationalist troops swept north.

In addition to the menace of the civil war, it is reported that large groups of British and American have been filtered into Peking and Tientsin with which to carry on propaganda against foreigners. Other reports have disclosed that a large group of trained agitators have been dispatched from Canton to that region.

President Is Hopeful.

President Coolidge is hopeful that the 1,500 marines now en route to Chinese waters to supplement American naval forces there will be sufficient to protect this country's nationals, as they emerge from interior China. No decision has been reached as to dispatch of the additional 1,500 men being assembled at San Diego, and the President is anxiously awaiting assurances that they will not be needed.

So far as the President understands, the cooperation between American and other naval officers at Chinese ports for protection of nationals in China, is continuing without change.

In his study of the civil war developments the President has found no indication that Russian activities in the area exceed the degree related in press reports from China, which have disclosed that Michael Borodin, a Russian communist, is on the staff of the Cantonese army along with several other Russians who are acting in an advisory capacity. Much of the anti-foreignism propaganda now rampant in China is said in official reports to come partially from these Russian sources.

Avoiding New Boxer Clash.

In selecting Tientsin instead of Peking as the concentration point in the event of the evacuation of north China this government has moved to obviate a repetition of the disaster at the Chinese capital during the Boxer uprising of 1900.

Then hundreds of foreigners were cooped up for months in the diplomatic quarter of the city until an allied army could cut its way north through several bloody battles to relieve the beleaguered city.
Tientsin, a city of nearly a million native population, is nearly 3,000 foreigners, including nearly 1,000 Americans, lies in flat country on the Pei-Ho river, 25 miles inland from the gulf port of Tientsin. It is the southern point of a rough triangle formed with Peking and Chinwangtao, connected by the Peking-Mukden railroad.

The American troops are garrisoned at Tientsin except for one company of about 100 stationed at Tongshan, 85 miles distant, guarding a section of the road between Tientsin and Chin-wangtao. A large number of troops of other countries also are stationed at Tientsin.

Quantico Artillery Enroute for Coast

Marine field artillery, en route to San Diego, Calif., for possible emergency service in China, left Quantico yesterday.

It was intended to entrain the Quantico force of 41 officers and 400 men by Monday, but inability to obtain Pullman cars resulted in delay. Arrival of Pullmans permitted departure of two trains yesterday, and the final two will leave today.

believed to have removed the danger of Wu Pei-Fu's troops going over to the Cantonese.

Peking, threatened by the northward drive of the Cantonese along the Tientsin-Pukow railway, has an American population of nearly 1,000.

The city, one of the most ancient in China, lies approximately 130 miles from the mouth of the Pei river and about 50 south of the great wall of China.

Appeal for Unity.

Shanghai, China, April 5 (By A. P.).— An appeal for unity within the Cantonese ranks at this crucial moment was made today in a manifesto issued by Cantonese leaders and signed by Wang Ching-wei, former chairman of the executive committee of the nationalist (Cantonese) organization, and Chen Tu-Hsiu, local communist leader.
The manifesto in veiled terms declares that there is a split within the Kuomintang or republican revolutionary party which is the political organization of the Cantonese regime. Asserting that the communists within the party are adding to the difficulties of the party set forth by the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen, the manifesto asserts that reports of internal friction are due to the activities of counter-revolutionaries who are attempting to wreck the nationalist movement.

One paragraph of the manifesto implies the Gen. Chang Kai-Shek, the Cantonese generalissimo, who has been at odds for some time with the radical wing of the party, has accepted the will of Hankow, capital of the Cantonese government. This paragraph says:
"The military authorities at Shanghai are now willing to obey the instructions of the central government, and it is not impossible that the differences and misunderstandings, if any, between them will eventually be adjusted to the satisfaction of all."

Seen as Preventative.

The manifesto is generally interpreted as an effort by Wang Ching-wei to prevent a split in the party by voicing hopes of reconciliation rather than that it is an actual accomplishment.

"Since the arrival of the nationalist revolutionary forces at Shanghai, which is the main base of imperialism," the manifesto says, "Counter-revolutionists inside and outside of China have been doing their utmost to sow dissension between the main party of the Kuomintang and the communists."

Referring to the question of the former settlements at Shanghai and Hankow, the manifesto continues: "The communists have endeavored to effect the retrocession of the Kuomintang's resolution to refrain from the use of military force to effect the retrocession of these settlements. The general labor union has issued a manifesto that laborers will not try to invade the settlements singly or independently of others."

Appealing for unity, the manifesto concludes: "Our political views may differ, but we should always present a united front."

Reports of the continuation of the Cantonese drive along the railway leading to Tientsin at Peking and of the further evacuation of British and American nationals from the north of China were received here during the day.
Stiff resistance to the Cantonese drive was reported at Nanking, where northern forces captured Kwanon on Sunday after heavy fighting. The Cantonese are rushing reinforcements to that area.

Americans and British Leave.

Foreigners are continuing to concentrate on Tientsin from various sections of north China, while the American and British evacuation of Szechwan province, in the upper Yangtze valley, was virtually complete. Only a few veteran missionaries at Chengtu and Yachowfu are remaining in Szechwan, which has been one of the largest fields for missionary work.

The American gunboat Monocacy, which is conveying the steamer Chinan, en route to Ichang, bearing the United States consul and vice consul from Chungking.

One of the Chinese, wounded when bluejackets evacuated the Monocacy, died at a group of coolies yesterday, has died. The Chinan incident is now being used by agitators at Ichang to stir up feeling against the Americans. All Americans at Ichang had boarded ship, and attempts by agitators to call out the native crews of American ships thus far have failed today.

The evacuation of the province of Hunan also will be completed shortly.
The Pilot, which is now at Changsha with the United States consul aboard, is preparing to sail on Thursday, labor agitation in the city being reported as making this step imperative.

North China Missionaries Are Quitting Their Posts

New York, April 5 (By A. P.).—An "imperative general withdrawal" of missionaries from their posts in north China to coast cities "on account of revolution causing great danger to life," was reported by Bishop Laurens J. Birney, of Shanghai, in a cable to the Methodist board of foreign missions tonight.

The north China mission centers, officials here said, are in the line of advance of the Cantonese army. Bishop Birney made no appeal for funds to aid the missionaries. Dr. John R. Edwards, corresponding secretary of the Methodist board at Shanghai, notified the New York board that a previous request for $75,000 for an emergency fund may have to be changed to $150,000.

American Note to Canton Is Like Those of Powers

London, April 5 (By A. P.).—Announcement from China that the United States, Great Britain and Japan have presented demands upon the Cantonese government for reparation for the Nanking outrages was expected in London momentarily today, following news that the United States had instructed its minister in Peking what course to take. It is stated that the British minister has already received his instructions.

Although the text of the American note is understood to have been slightly amended from the original draft as submitted by American Minister Mac-Murray to Washington, it is essentially the same as the Japanese and British protests.

It is expected the demands will be handed to the political and military authorities of the Cantonese regime both at Hankow and Shanghai.

A delayed dispatch from Tientsin, on the Shantung peninsula, says the Japanese first squadron sailed from that port Monday for Chefoo. Only two cruisers were left behind.

Three destroyers belonging to the sixteenth flotilla proceeded to Shanghai.

The house of commons will postpone its regular business tomorrow in order to debate the Chinese situation. This announcement was made by Premier Baldwin today in answer to a query by J. Ramsay MacDonald whether time would be allotted for such discussions.

Sixth Marines Plan to Sail For Orient Duty Tomorrow

San Diego, Calif., April 5 (By A. P.).
Sailing of the Sixth regiment of marines on the transport Henderson for Shanghai is set tentatively for Thursday morning. Capt. Robert Morris, commanding the troop ship, said today.
Thirty-four officers and 500 men of the regiment went aboard the transport today. The remaining 1,000 officers and men will march to the dock from the marine base tomorrow afternoon.

Last of the field equipment to be stowed aboard the already jammed troop ship will be the 75-millimeter guns. The field pieces will be lashed to the deck as the cargo holds are filled to capacity with stores, aircraft, trucks and other gear.

Marines Leave for China On Anniversary of War

Norfolk, Va., April 5 (By A. P.).—On the tenth anniversary of the declaration of war on Germany by the United States, tomorrow 320 marines will leave the Norfolk navy yard for San Diego, Calif., where they are to form part of the force being assembled there for duty in China. The sea soldiers will leave in two detachments, one going by boat to Newport News to board a Chesapeake and Ohio train and the other will leave direct from the navy yard over the Seaboard Air Line.

Col. H. C. Davis, commandant of the marine barracks here, will accompany the troops and be in command of the 1,500 marines assembled at San Diego.
Several cars of ammunition and equipment are being taken by the local detachments.

Gen. Pi Reported Executed
For Surrendering Shanghai

Shanghai, China, April 5 (By A. P.).—
The Chinese press reports that Gen.
Pi Shu-Chen, Shantungese commander in Shanghai prior to the fall of the city, was shot to death at Suhowfu on March 28 on orders from Chang Taung-chang, the Shantungese commander in chief. Pi was charged with giving up Shanghai without fighting and also with bargaining with the Cantonese.

Lynchings Show Big
Increase in Year

Lynchings occurred in five States last year that previously had been on the honor roll of the commission on race relations of the Federal Council of Churches, that organization announced today. The States include New Mexico, Kentucky, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas. New Mexico, the council reported, had a record of no lynchings for a period of ten years.

The report showed that "mob murders" almost doubled last year, with 30 persons lynched, compared with 17 in 1926 and 16 in 1924. There were 38 States free of lynchings during the year. Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Vermont continued their record of no lynchings since becoming States.

More Diesel Engines
Approved by Board

The Shipping Board yesterday authorized Commissioner Benson to submit recommendations for Dieselization of twelve more steamships, with a view to taking immediate action to let contracts for the work. The board also authorized the negotiation of contracts, subject to the board's approval, for three more Diesel engines contemplated in the original allotment of twelve vessels.

Conversion of these ships will bring the Shipping Board's Diesel fleet up to 25 vessels. The board now has seven motor ships in operation. All of these vessels as converted have proven themselves satisfactory.

COMMISSIONERS RETAIN OLD RADIOCASTING BAND

Order Virtually Gives Blanket License to Operators in Good Standing.

TIME LIMIT IS NOT FIXED

Two decisions of major importance to broadcasting were announced yesterday by the Federal radio commission.
The first notified the country's radio users that for the present the limitations of wave length bands on which broadcasting has been done will be unchanged, and the second gave what amounts to a blanket license to all broadcasters in good standing to continue operation.

The commission declared all operators who hold an old permit from the Commerce Department, and who have applied for a regular license before April 24, shall be deemed as legally authorized to continue. Such applicants will have full permission to continue until the commission, under the new law, has been heard during individual cases. Failure to submit an application by April 24 may subject the broadcaster to penalties aimed at unlicensed operators.

Dealing with the broadcasting band, the commission said that the present allocations, between 550 and 1,500 kilocycles, on which stations have worked, would be adhered to for the present, though some argument in favor of extending the range was heard during recent hearings. This band provides 89 channels for the 732 stations.

So far as practicable, the order declared the commission will regard the band of higher frequencies between 1,500 and 2,000 kilocycles as open for experimental work, and visual matter, such as moving pictures or moving views, in case inventions along these lines are perfected.

GLASS SAYS SMITH CAN WIN PRESIDENCY

old Wilson following are lining up for Smith.
Recently former Postmaster General
Albert S. Burleson and former Attorney General Gregory, both of Texas, came over the Seaboard Air Line.

It is well known that former Secretary of the Navy Joseph Daniels is prepared to support Smith. In fact, Mr. Daniels has been mentioned as Vice President on a Smith ticket, and there is reason to believe he takes the suggestion not unkindly.

Such assistance to the Smith support, as viewed here, are not only of moment in and of themselves, as pointing to accretions of strength to the Republican ticket, but they indicate a remarkable crumbling away of the former McAdoo strength. It is coming to be believed that Gov. McAdoo can no longer hope to go into the 1928 convention with anything like the strength he had in 1924.

Not only are there reports of accessions of strength in the South, but there are much similar reports coming from the West. Gossip here among politicians is that if Gov. Smith makes a reply to the Marshall letter, which is generally deemed adequate, there will soon be other accessions of a noteworthy character.

The reports were incomplete and did the victory as a certain sign of success for the concentrated advance against the liberals now in progress.

BUREAU WILL OPEN COLLEGE HEARINGS

Incorporations to Be Investigated With View to Rem-edial Legislation.

The bureau of efficiency will begin hearings dealing with alleged wholesale incorporation of colleges and universities under District corporation laws next week at bureau headquarters, and efforts to bring out remedial legislation will be sought.

The bureau is investigating several phases of the situation for various House committees, and a considerable amount of evidence has come into its hands. Many witnesses, including incorporators, officials, teachers and graduates of various institutions incorporated under the laws of the District will testify.

The office of the United States district attorney will also submit evidence tending to show that various educational institutions established in recent years have been incorporated in the District to evade more rigid requirements in the States.

European Division Chief Here for Duty

J. Theodore Marriner, newly appointed chief of the division of western European affairs of the State Department, arrived here yesterday from Bern, Switzerland, where he was first secretary of the American legation.

Mr. Marriner will not take up his duties as chief of division until the return of William R. Castle, Jr., the present chief, who is now on leave in Bermuda. Mr. Castle has been appointed Assistant Secretary of State. At present the western European division is in charge of Prentiss Gilbert, who is expected to be named assistant chief of the division when Mr. Marriner assumes the post as chief. Mr. Marriner's post at Bern is being filled by Frederic R. Dalbore, who left Washing-

FRANCE REFUSES.

France refuses to participate in the naval arms conference proposed by President Coolidge. The reasons advanced, with one exception, are amusing, and might easily be accepted as exquisite examples of Gallic irony. The only valid reason given is that France regards the question of national armaments as involving land, sea and air forces, which must be considered together in order to reach agreements for reducing any of them.

Probably the chief consideration in refusing to join the great naval powers in conference is the fact that while France is not a great naval power, and does not aspire to be one, she does intend to protect her territories and communications by the use of submarines, cruisers and other small craft, and will not agree to be limited as to the character or total tonnage of such craft. Therefore she has nothing to offer in the way of naval limitation, and can not expect to obtain any concessions from any of the naval powers.

The ostensible reason assigned for refusing to participate in the conference is that France feels that such action would be unfaithful to the league of nations, which sponsors a general disarmament scheme. The French reply lays stress upon France's loyalty to the principle of the equality of nations as exemplified in the league. "For us it is a question of probability toward the league of nations," says the French note.

This is calculated to cause a derisive laugh in every chancellery in the world in which the Quai d'Orsay will join. Every international negotiator knows that France holds the key position in the league of nations arms conference and can indefinitely postpone or kill off any limitation proposal that does not suit French plans. It is universally known also that the equality of nations is specifically defined by the covenant of the league of nations, which sets up a small ring of large powers as directors of the league and its policies. France, with its European allies, can outvote any other nation in the council or the assembly of the league, and is now doing so in the preliminary arms conference.

If participation in the special conference is a sign of lack of "probity toward the league," what about Great Britain and Japan? Are they false to the league when they agree to consider with the United States the limitation of naval force? The covenant provides that special arrangements looking to the promotion of peace shall be recognized by the league. These special agreements are encouraged and fostered, in theory, by the league; but it is noticeable that in practice the power behind the throne within the league frowns upon negotiations among the powers unless these negotiations are conducted under the auspices of the league. Perhaps the reason for this unfavorable attitude is the greater facility with which the nations can reach agreements outside the league than within it, thus exhibiting the fact that the league is a superfluous machine when the nations really wish to get together. As a means of preventing general agreement the league offers unusual facilities when manipulated by such a skillful hand as that of M. Briand.

But it is all one in the end. The nations will not limit their armaments below the point required for their own security as determined by themselves in each case. If they are determined to have peace the league can not stop them, however deeply it may engage in political wire pulling.

GERMAN AIR TRANSPORT.

Statistics in regard to German air transport have just been given out by the Deutsche Lufthansa A. G., an organization which controls the entire German commercial flying industry. Its ships covered in 1926 more than 3,800,000 miles on German airways and on those international lines which are operated by the Lufthansa jointly with foreign companies. This represents an increase of approximately one-third over the mileage flown by the two German air transport groups that were operating in 1925.

The Lufthansa carried more than 56,000 passengers in 1926, in addition to some 380 metric tons of baggage, 260 metric tons of freight and 303 tons of postal matter and newspapers. The number of passengers carried was approximately 50 per cent higher than in 1925, the baggage and freight 115 per cent more, and the postal matter 85 per cent more. These records were made despite the fact that during the first three months of 1926, during which time the Lufthansa was being formed, none of the ships of the two companies from which the consolidation was effected were in operation.

Germany is not falling behind in the development of commercial flying. Possibly the situation there is not comparable to that which obtains in the United States, because the German fleet operates under government subsidy, but the fact remains that Germany has great numbers of planes in regular service, carrying many passengers and a considerable volume of freight and express. As an asset to the people of Germany, the Lufthansa is of immeasurable value.

TO INQUIRE INTO REVENUE.

The joint congressional committee created by the revenue act of 1926 will today begin consideration of matters touching the internal revenue, possible changes in the revenue law, and the question of evading corporate income taxes by diverting profits into stock dividends.

Changes in the revenue law resulting from these considerations, if incorporated into law, will materially affect the annual revenue and the surplus. The Treasury receipts from internal revenue taxes so far this year have exceeded last year's figures not only because of general business prosperity but because of sales of railroad securities and the collection of back taxes in excess of what was anticipated. Acting Secretary Mills estimates that the surplus next June will be at least $500,000,000.

The joint committee now at work will consider reduction of the corporate income tax, repeal of the Federal estate tax, and a reduction of the automobile and amusement taxes. In view of the Supreme Court decision in regard to stock dividends, it is difficult to see how the government can compel the distribution of large corporate earnings into taxable profits. It is impossible for Treasury officials and tax adjusters to determine just how much may be needed to operate a business without crippling it, or how much may be safely paid out in dividends, either cash or stock.

All these matters make it difficult to estimate how much can be safely cut in taxes, and how much additional revenue may be obtained from corporations now evading direct taxes. It is impossible accurately to estimate the revenue or surplus in June, 1928, or subsequent years.

The policy of the Treasury Department is to reduce the public debt before reducing taxes. Hitherto the surplus has automatically been applied to a reduction of the debt. According to a statement issued by the Treasury the total public debt March 31 last was $19,008,196,451; less balance in the Treasury on that day, the net debt was $18,584,860,365. Doubtless the congressional committee will take into consideration this large debt and the fact that the unusual increases in internal revenue receipts this fiscal year may not materialize during the next and subsequent fiscal years. In that case the surpluses in June, 1928 and 1929, may decline or disappear.

It is agreed that Federal expenses can not be reduced in the next few years. They will probably increase. The sinking fund and interest on the public debt are items of expenditure that must be met. The congressional committee doubtless will pay as much attention to revenue as to tax relief.

THE MAIL CONTRACT.

After the 1st of July the United States air mail will have assumed its proper place in the Postoffice Department. The government does not properly belong in the transportation business. It has been a fundamental principle of the department that the mails should be carried by private enterprise whenever, by virtue of passengers and express also carried, it makes the venture self-sustaining. Railway mail is carried in this manner. Now air mail is to follow suit.

In the absence of official information it may be safely assumed that Postmaster General New made a wise choice in awarding the New York-Chicago contract to the National Air Transport. The Postmaster General did not make the award precipitately, but only after investigation of the competing companies, and there is no doubt that the successful bidder will fulfill its part of the bargain. This is the important consideration—that the mails be carried regularly and faithfully by a competent and responsible organization.

MORTAL GOLF BALLS.

England appears to be worried over the consequences lurking behind every swiftly driven golf ball. H. C. Kinch, a professional, while playing in tournament at Chipstead not long ago, killed a sparrow in full flight with his drive. Some time previously, J. Bamford, another professional, killed two wagtails in one pull on the course at Chester. At Hawick a gull and a weasel have been slain by balls. At Hertz a partridge was felled, and at Newark a hard hit ball landed in a river and killed a two-pound trout.

England is not a large country and does not possess vast numbers of wild animals. Naturally the country is aroused over this latest menace which, if continued over a sufficient period, might easily drive wild life to extinction. But golf is a fine game and wonderful exercise, and since it has been so widely adopted the standard of public health has been raised considerably. In so awkward a dilemma a decision naturally must be difficult. One can only sympathize with England, which faces the question as to whether golf or wild life shall become extinct.

It is to be hoped that the condition will not spread across the ocean. Although this country still has a rather liberal supply of wild animal life, it is not so plentiful that conservation is unnecessary. The tendency should be watched carefully, and if the American golfer is found to be killing off animals, something will have to be done.

A CONTROL DEVICE.

The twelve months just past have been a gala period for applied science. Talking moving pictures have been perfected and have been introduced to audiences throughout the country. The ocean has been bridged by wireless telephone. Photographs have been transmitted by wire and by radio. The Coolidge ray has been given to science, and now a young research engineer of the Westinghouse Electric Co., D. D. Knowles, has produced a new current-controlling device which promises to be of prime commercial importance.

His so-called "grid-glow relay" is so sensitive that it can be controlled by the mere approach of the hand, a drop of water, a ray of sunlight or the light of a match. To illustrate its sensitiveness, an object was placed on a plush cushion near the relay, in no way connected with it. Any motion to remove the object caused a bell to ring and an incandescent bulb to glow brightly. The raising and lowering of a window shade produced the same effect.

The inventor claims that the device may be used as a burglar alarm, as a means of attracting attention to window displays, and as a warning of fire. It may be used as a lock to turn off gas mains when lights are extinguished. It will turn on the illuminating system of an entire city at nightfall, and extinguish it with the break of day. With it a shadow can stop a railroad train or maneuver a battleship. It will give advance warning of thunderstorms, and count people and automobiles passing a given point.

A decade ago industry turned toward machine production, and the result of this revolution has been a better and cheaper product. Management has discovered, however, that the machine is subject to the errors of the human being charged with its supervision, and there now seems to be a tendency to get away from human control in favor of mechanical supervision. The grid-glow relay is a step in this direction, combining as it does, almost human characteristics with unflinching and sure scientific precision.

UNRIVALED PROSPERITY.

Students of the Federal income tax are unanimous in their analysis that the record just made public reflects a condition of sound prosperity throughout the country. For the fiscal year ending June 30 next, a return of more than $2,000,000,000 seems to be assured, of which some 95 per cent will be paid by the very rich. More than 2,000,000 former income-tax payers have been relieved of any personal contribution to these revenues. Furthermore, 1925 reports from corporations indicate the highest net income on record, together with the smallest report of "no net income." Dividends from corporations were largely responsible for the creation of more than 1,000 additional millionaires.

If any more evidence is needed as to the economic condition of the country at the present time, Wall street very obligingly supplies it. On Monday last practically coincident with publication of the income tax statistics, securities of all sorts advanced to new high records. Twenty-five representative railroad issues reached an average of more than 110, a higher price than they had ever attained before. A like number of industrials reached an average of more than 194, the highest price at which these identical issues have ever sold. Forty bond issues averaged 91, the highest figure touched since 1913.

Wall street statisticians took the occasion to compute the gain in stock values since the last presidential election. The average of 25 industrials has gained during the period more than 75 points; the average of railroad shares, 39 points, and the average of 40 bonds, 10 points.

Wall street is experiencing a steady and strong bull market. The railroads have just completed one of the most successful years in history. Steel circles are optimistic. The automobile industry is preparing to break further records. The Department of Agriculture reports that the 1927 agricultural program appears to be in fairly good balance as among crops and live stock, with the production season fully two weeks advanced.

MARCH POLICE ACTIVITIES.

During March there were 1,022 more arrests in the District of Columbia than in February. That figure out exactly 33 more every day during the 31 days of the latter month than during the 28 days of the former. The fact that there was a falling off of nearly 50 per cent in the number of traffic arrests, as compared with the corresponding month of 1926, may be regarded as an indication of more general compliance with the regulations of the traffic bureau than was the case last year.

Of the 8,354 culprits who were brought to book 3,269 broke the traffic laws, or were alleged to have done so, and 1,526 were charged with violation of the statutes against liquor selling and drinking in public. Four of those arrested were charged with murder. Eighty-two were arrested for grand larceny, 125 for housebreaking, 25 for assault with dangerous weapons and of the 30 robberies reported the police accounted for 26 by arresting that number of suspects.

Altogether the police gave a very good account of themselves in the matter of catching criminals during the last month.

"WASHINGTON NIGHT."

The celebration of "Washington Night" on April 11 will be an occasion of keen interest to Washingtonians. Commissioner Dougherty will preside over a notable gathering of men and women who do the city's business and work for its development. A Washington orchestra of young musicians will render a festival program.

"Washington: Our National Shrine," its beauty, its preeminence, its significance among the capitals of the world, will be shown in an exquisite picturization by Charles Colfax Long, who, during many years has gathered beautiful views of Washington—at all times and in all seasons—which he has shown throughout the country in order that America may come to know the charm and spiritual significance of the National Capital.

WHO OWNS THE MILLIONS?

While the general accounting office of the government devotes most of its time to the solution of the problem "How not to do it" when it comes to paying for services rendered, the Treasury Department is confronted with an entirely different problem. That is how to get into the hands of the rightful owners the interest due them on bonds outstanding, the coupons of which have not been presented for payment.

Registered bonds are easily traceable, because the department has a record of the names of original purchasers, and subsequent transfers of ownership are recorded. But with coupon bonds it is different. They may have passed to the ownership of a score of different individuals, firms, or institutions, and no record whatever is made of such sales or transfers.

Many owners may have deposited their bonds in vaults, and no doubt in many instances they have been entirely forgotten by their owners. The result of neglect on the part of the owners is that the Treasury Department finds itself with more than $37,000,000 in its vaults which it is unable to distribute to the owners.

What to Do?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Testimony of a Vivisector.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I am now sending "The Post" the letter I promised to send, written to me by William Howard Hay, M. D., of Buffalo, N. Y. He was graduated at the University of New York, registered for practice of medicine in New York and Pennsylvania. He is a member of the Erie County Medical society, the Society of the State of New York and the American Medical association, in good standing. He is a member of the American Association for Medical-Physical Research, chairman of the section of advanced medicine in this latter society, associate editor of its journal and a frequent contributor to the medical and lay journals on the subject of diet and nutrition. He is a medical director of the Defensive Diet League of America, a sanitarian of rather wide experience and has completely tabooed medicines and surgery. Now for his letter:

"Dear Sir: You have guessed right. I am opposed to animal or human vivisection in every form, not only that any decent man does always shrink from inflicting on others needless pain, but because I am unable after all my many years of painful research and experiment to recall one single thing of importance to the human race that has been achieved through this inhuman butchery of the little animals. From my earlier years of association in laboratories of physiology with every type of man who engages in this degrading work I am very thoroughly convinced that the urge which prompts men to this work is never the burning desire to help the human race, as is always held up to be the prime motive, but that rather this urge is of two kinds, the first one the greed for prestige and popularity in so-called science, and the other the lowest of human motives, the glut of blood that is fostered by war and vivisection more than all else combined. I can say with Robert Ingersoll, that I do not care to shake hands with a vivisector. I would be glad to assist your cause in any way possible."

The slogan used by vivisectors, "Which shall it be, the child or the dog?" is only used to gain sympathy. If they would use their time and brains in trying to prevent war, instead of manufacturing poison gases and explosives, killing men, women and children by the hundreds of thousands, maiming, blinding and making cripples, who would be better off dead, then I would call them scientists.

QUESTAV STRYKER.

New York, April 3.

Park and School Grounds.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Per mit me to call your attention to the opportunity now presented to the District to acquire a combined community recreation center and park and junior high school project which will be something new and creditable to the growing National Capital.

The District commissioners and the National Capital park and planning commission are negotiating for a 25-acre tract for these purposes. The commissioners are concerned with the school project, and the park commission with the recreation center. By joint negotiation the price of the land has been brought within the limitation imposed by Congress and joint purchase by them is necessary to secure the land for both school and park purposes. This is the first time the officials have been able to make purchases of land under this limitation. The community recreation center will be the first of its kind in this city, having been conceived by the park commission.

The land in question is situated north of the present Whittier school on Sheridan street northwest, between Fifth and Third streets, running into the southern boundary of Takoma Park. It is ideally situated in a residential community, between two car lines, but sufficiently removed from street traffic dangers and commercial zones. The tract would have been acquired last week had it not been for an eleventh hour suggestion from Dr. F. W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, that a tract be secured two blocks south and a few blocks west. This latter suggestion has been taken up by the purchasing officials of the District, notwithstanding the Sheridan street tract has been under negotiation since last November. It is now proposed to locate this school, which will cost $475,000, exclusive of the site, near the Georgia avenue street car barn in a commercial district. Not long ago the Thirteenth police station was placed next door to the new Brightwood school at Thirteenth and Nicholson streets. Surely this new junior high school should not be misplaced next door to a car barn. Available sites for the junior high school were inspected last July by a group of officials and citizens, including Robert L. Haycock, assistant superintendent of schools, and Dr. H. B. Learned, of the board of education, but they gave no serious consideration to the car barn tract.

The Sheridan street school and park project has received the approval of the organized citizens of the District. The Federation of Citizens Associations referred to its education committee for action a resolution endorsing the twin project, which has also been approved by two local associations—Manor Park and Takoma Park.

If the commissioners do not exercise their exclusive right to purchase land (the school officials are given no authority in the matter) the project may fail. In such event the

"Equality"

By ROBERT QUILEN

WHEN the half-grown tiger cub prowls in the jungle at night it does not tremble, nor does it cower in the deepest shade to avoid observation and conflict.

It is ready for battle and it has no acquaintance with fear. It has inherited courage and arrogance from a thousand generations of terrible ancestors.

When first the young rabbit goes abroad its heart is filled with terrors. It flits into a thicket when its sensitive ears hear the least noise—not because hurt has taught it fear, but because it inherited fear from timorous and helpless ancestors.

Democracy was tried a great while ago by an able people and eventually failed. The experiment in equality now being tried by these United States is new.

Human traits can not be changed in one generation, nor in a dozen. Law can not change what is bred in the bone.

The people are equal under the law, but they are not equal in fact. One man feels inferior and cringes before another.

Whatever the law may say, one man inherits the boldness of the tiger and another the craven heart of the rabbit.

Despite the arrogance of America's successful, you hear much talk and see much evidence of an "inferiority complex."

That consciousness of inferiority is not, except in rare cases, the result of hard knocks and failures. It is the inevitable heritage of mortals whose ancestors so long and so recently jerked a forelock when a prince rode by.

These are born with a disposition to stand in awe of superior people. And they are doomed to humble tasks and a mean existence unless they can conquer the hereditary servility that is in them and face the world as free men, unafraid and as good as the next.

Humility is a virtue in the powerful; it is mere cowardice in the weak.

Freedom is a matter of law. It begins in the spirit of man. Thus it is with equality. Ten thousand years can not establish it unless those made equal by law contrive to stiffen their backbones and actually feel equal to the best.

No mere law could make the rabbit contemptuous of danger.

Poor man! When he wishes to change his clothes, he has to do more than hold something aloft and squirm.

The "honor" that attaches to an office depends wholly on the caliber of the men who have held it.

Correct this sentence: "I don't mind static if the tenor is singing 'The End of a Perfect Day!'" public will place the responsibility where it belongs. There have been too many delays in the school program and too many unpleasant situations in the administration of affairs in the District recently to brook delay in this matter. E. H. PULLMAN, President, Manor Park Citizens association.

THE OSTRICH DIES.

The ostrich, we used to think, was an unlikely bird, observes the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. That was our notion in the old days, when Judy O'Grady and the colonel's lady both wore feathers in their hats. Remember those willow plumes! There was majesty in their sweep, there was a potency that transfigured the dullest little wren into a grand dame. Then there was that cavalier plume that crowned her as she cantered forth through marvelous mornings along dear, winding roads. And have we forgotten the Gibson girl with her three ostrich tips in heraldic formation? Not on your life. But all this, we thought, was pretty tough on the ostrich. Here was a poor plucked bird, goose-pimpled and shivering in the wanton gale at the heartless demand of feminine vanity.

We were dead wrong, as the news from South Africa so sadly confirms. They are slaughtering the ostriches there. Why? Because in the present caricature of hat imposed on woman by bobbed hair the feather is non est. Wherefore, the ostrich has become an idler. He no longer operates a beauty shoppe. By the whimsy of fashion his raison d'être is gone. He has saved his feathers and lost his head. That sort of thing often happens. Probably too, the ostrich is blaming the women. The sort of thing also often happens.

Padlocks.

Philadelphia Inquirer: The increasing popularity of the padlock as a threat, even if it isn't much of an actual deterrent, is seen in the movement at Albany, N. Y., where means of curbing the New York theater is being discussed. It has been suggested that playhouses where questionable productions have been offered be shut up for a period. If this idea progresses much further it won't be long ere a grocery store will be padlocked for selling a rancid butter, or a church closed where there is dissension in the choir.

Spring!

Buffalo News: These are difficult days, in spite of the promise they carry. Normally cheerful dispositions become gloomy, dismal and morbid under the influence of the sudden changes. They are plunged in moping melancholy. They are reduced to doubting whether life is worth living. Ah, but life is worth living, for spring is coming. Nothing now can stop it. Old winter is passing fast though it may not pass easily. There may intervene some trying days. One's success in getting through them will depend not only on temperance but also upon temperance on the spirit with which one faces them.

Overlegislation.

Rochester Democrat and Chronicle: Overlegislation and the rushing through of ill-considered laws is perhaps the greatest evil of our political system. Some way to abate it must be found; and it would seem that Congress, presumed to be our most intelligent lawmaking body, should point the way, instead of setting a pernicious example to the States. If every law had to be re-enacted by one or two succeeding legislatures many conditions supposed to call for laws would cure themselves, and far fewer heavy, foolish, needless, harmful laws would get into the books to remain, as some of them do, forever and a day.

SUN STUDIES SUBJECT OF WRC TALK TONIGHT

Comic Opera, Saxophone Octet and Troubadours Share in Program.

OLD SONGS ON BLUE LINE

The latest developments in "Studying the Sun" will be given by L. R. Aldrich, of the Astrophysical Observatory of the Smithsonian Institution through WRC at 8:45 o'clock this evening. Although this observatory is one of the most famous in the world, it is believed that comparatively few listeners even in Washington are aware of its great importance.

The Astrophysical Observatory studies the light and heat of the sun with regard to its effect upon the weather and other elements entering into our life. It maintains solar observing stations in such outposts as Mount Montezuma in Chile, and Mount Harqua Hala in Arizona. Above these peaks the sky is practically cloudless, rain almost never falls and therefore opportunities for observation of the sun are atmospherically unequalled.

A tabloid of the comic opera, "The Doctor of Alcantara," by Julius Eichberg, will be broadcast by WRC tonight at 10:30 o'clock by the National Light Opera company. The evening's program will include a concert by the army band, followed by a third of the series of "The Perfect Diamond Entertainers," through the courtesy of Charles Schwartz & Son.

Jan Munkacsy, the Hungarian violinist, is scheduled for 8:15 o'clock. Mr. Munkacsy has been heard recently in New York and Philadelphia. In the latter city a capacity audience of 4,000 greeted his playing with enthusiasm.

The Saxophone octet will play selections from "Rigoletto," "The Troubadours" and the "Cycle of Romance" will follow.

The annual dinner of the Talking Machine and Radio Men, Inc., in New York this evening from 8:30 o'clock until midnight will be broadcast through station WJZZ and will bring to the radio audience such features as the Happiness Boys, Ted Lewis and his band, the Radio Franks, the Record Boys and many other equally well-known attractions.

An old-timers program will be offered through WJZZ, KDKA and other stations of the blue network at 10 o'clock. Such hits of yesterday as "Turkey in the Straw," "Sweet Rosie O'Grady" and "My Darling Clementine" will be given by a group of entertainers, which will include the Shannon quartet.

"The Trial Before Pilate," a Biblical drama, will be given at 7 o'clock from station WJZZ in New York. A program is scheduled for KFL, Los Angeles, which will likely run long after midnight and which will present the Gamut male quartet and the Chico de Verdu string orchestra. Both of these organizations can be relied upon usually to present a worthwhile program.

Nancy Carey Over Radio Talks to Home Makers

Nancy Carey, director of The Post home efficiency service, yesterday broadcast the first of a series of home makers' talks from the WRC studio. These discussions are given to the public through the courtesy of the Chestnut Parms Dairy and the Carry Ice Cream Co.

Mrs. Carey emphasized the fact that since the work of women in the home consists not of one but of numerous forms of work, they should be afforded every assistance with the various branches that they may accomplish their administration with the least possible expenditure of time and energy. The subjects of cooking and entertaining were given special attention during this hour. These home makers' hours, conducted by Miss Carey, are to continue indefinitely each Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

PAN-AMERICAN CONCERT IS ENJOYED BY MANY

Rosita Renard, Chilean Pianist, Pleases by Presenting Native Works.

SERVICE MUSICIANS PLAY

Rosita Renard, Chilean pianist, was accorded an ovation at the Pan-American concert given at the Pan-American Union building last night under the auspices of the Pan-American union with the United States orchestra in its second concert of this nature.

Senorita Renard, who has achieved wide fame not only in South America but in Europe and the United States, has the unique distinction of being the only woman pianist of international fame whose musical education was paid for by her government. In her recent concert with the New York Philharmonic orchestra, the Boston symphony, San Chicago orchestra and others this season she won high praise from the critics, and her numbers last night justified this.

The playing was distinguished by brilliancy of tone, easy execution and incomparable technique and poetic interpretations. Her selections were the works of Chilean composers.

North America furnished the other soloists of the evening, Elizabeth Gutman, prima donna soprano, and Technical Sergeant Goodhart, of the Army band, who gave an excellent group of marimba solos. Miss Gutman was most effective in a program of Mexican, Cuban and Venezuelan music.

The United States orchestra renewed the good impression made at its debut concert. The unity of attack is pleasing, and the brilliant symphonic effects are easily obtained from these selected musicians of the Army and Navy bands who compose the United States orchestra by Lieut. Charles Benter, leader of the Navy band, and Capt. William J. Stannard of the U. S. Army band orchestra.

The concert was a brilliant one and included many members of the diplomatic corps and social notables of the Capital.

Bishop Russell was pastor for many years. He organized the League of the Good Shepherd there and was the originator of the annual Pan-American mass on Thanksgiving day. It is expected a large number of local clergy and lay friends of the late bishop will attend the mass.

NOTABLE CONCERT GIVEN BY BOSTON SYMPHONY

Serge Koussevitzky Presents Pleasing Interpretation of Beethoven Works.

FINAL RECITAL OF SERIES

The Boston Symphony orchestra was heard in a notable program at Poll's theater yesterday afternoon in the final concert of its series this spring under the auspices of Mrs. Wilson Greene. The orchestra was led by Serge Koussevitzky, the Russian conductor, who has been associated with the Boston organization for several seasons and whose fame as a leader is acknowledged not only in this country but in Europe.

In keeping with the world-wide celebration of the 100th anniversary of the death of Beethoven, the program was opened by a magnificent rendition of Beethoven's great symphony "No. 1 in C Minor." This is one of the classics of Beethoven's works and the orchestra gave it justice. The ensemble tone was a thing of beauty and the phrasing was unusually fine and balanced. The second movement, "The Andante Cantabile," one of the loveliest parts of any symphony, was exceedingly well done and splendid work was marked on the part of the strings particularly. The graceful minuet with its trio was another fine part, while the finale with its adagio, a gem of melody, was greatly applauded.

"Lilacs," dedicated to Miss Amy Lowell and inspired by her poem of that title, was a lovely story, while the stirring measures of Wagner's "Ride of the Valkyries" proved a favorite also.

The audience yesterday afternoon was fortunate in that the orchestra played two symphonies, the second being the Symphony No. 5 in E minor, by Tachakowsky. This symphony, with its undercurrent of heroic melodies was familiar ground to the conductor, who put into its playing all the fervor of his native genius and a masterly interpretation of the work of his fellow Slav.

The first two movements, andante and andante cantabile, the voiced every mood of music applicable to the symphony and with rare delicacy and a poetry of understanding Koussevitzky brought out their musical story with such surety of attack, such beauty of phrasing and cohesion on the part of the musicians that the applause was so spontaneous at the close of the second movement that the musicians had to wait a few minutes for it to subside before beginning the third movement of the symphony of this nature.

The finale was Wagnerian in its intensity, the magnificence of its climaxes and its artistic crescendo. Mrs. Coolidge, who occupied a stage box with a party of friends, was the leader in an ovation at the conclusion of the program, which brought the conductor back to the stage again, after he had modestly retired, to bow his thanks and to share the applause with his musicians.

MONEY OR LIVES, APPEAL OF CHARITIES

Record Number of Needy Cases Reported by Local Organizations.

Declaring that more calls for help have come from Washington families in recent months than ever in the history of the organizations, the Associated Charities and the Citizens Relief association, yesterday appealed to the Washington public to aid it to relieve existing distress.

"In a very real sense it is 'your money or their lives,'" Corcoran Thom, chairman of the joint finance committee, declared in an appeal addressed to several thousand persons through the mail. Contributions, he said, should be sent to Corcoran Thom, joint finance committee, Social Service house, 1022 Eleventh street northwest. The committee asked for 10,000 contributors to a $70,000 budget that is necessary to carry on the work essential to aiding families in distress. The object of the committee, it was stressed, is to bring about the rehabilitation of needy families and make them again self-supporting and independent of charity or outside aid. "One person single-handed can do no such job. By combining your gift with many others it can be done, and the better time will be happier for all," Mr. Thom appealed.

Gonzales, in a $70,000 damage suit filed against them both yesterday in circuit court by John H. Tench, and his wife, Mrs. Margarita L. Tench, of 55 M street northwest, which the plaintiffs seek to recover for alleged personal injuries to Mrs. Tench.

Through Attorney J. A. Carey both Tench and his wife declare that the younger Gonzales was a reckless driver and that he has been convicted of a charge of reckless driving in the police court and that fact was known not only to the elder Gonzales but to the police as well.

Notwithstanding, it is alleged, the younger Gonzales was permitted on April 5, 1926, to drive his motorcycle at a reckless and high rate of speed at the intersection of First street and New York avenue northwest and strike Mrs. Tench, who was on the crosswalk.

PROPOSED INQUIRY INTO BANKING LOBBY DROPPED BY GLASS

Not Sufficient Material Is Found to Substantiate Slush Charge.

PLANS ALREADY MADE TO AMEND MEASURE

"High-Hat" Attitude of Reserve Board Starts Move for Change in West.

By NORMAN W. BAXTER.
There will be no investigation of the "money trust" during the summer recess of Congress. The one authorization for an inquisitorial committee which was passed in the closing days of the Sixty-ninth Congress has died of inanition and the expose of the branch banking "lobby" which Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, was to have conducted will be denied the public. Instead there may be, either in the coming Congress or the next, a concerted effort to amend the Pepper-McFadden branch banking bill, opposition to which caused the demand for an official committee of inquiry.

Preliminary consideration of the forces which worked against the Pepper-McFadden bill has revealed the fact that there is not sufficient material on which to substantiate the charge made on the floor of the Senate by the Virginia senator that $100,000 was expended and undue influence used to block the passage of the measure.

Sentiment Is Sought.
Instead detailed study of the measure has demonstrated that there is more than point against which opposition may crystallize and be the cause of action in one of the sessions of Congress that is to come.

For the moment Joseph W. McIntosh, comptroller of the currency, is sounding out the sentiment of the banking interests of the country relative to the new features that are embodied in the bill. He has issued a questionnaire, addressed to the leading bankers of the country, in an effort to establish some fixed principle on such points as may be considered matters of opinion.

Information from other sources has established the fact that there are two issues on which the financial interests of the country are far from clear, as far as the new measures are concerned. One center of opposition comes, as it did when the measure was before Congress, from the Branch Banking association, which in strict reality represents those bankers who are interested in the chain system of banking.

Chain Bankers to Fight.
The Pepper-McFadden bill definitely has put an end to chain banking. It will be impossible now for financial institutions to extend their scope through the purchase of controlling stock in other institutions. Operations such as marked the Georgia collapse, when the failure of the parent bank involved 30 or more institutions, are no longer legal.

The bill provides, however, that one branch bank may be established in cities of 25,000 population, two where the population is between 50,000 and 100,000 and in cities over that size the number of branches is to be governed by the comptroller of the currency. The chain banking interests are violently opposed to this system. Their activities led to the demand for an investigation by Senator Glass, and in the Seventieth Congress they may be quiescent, but two years later it appears to be almost certain that an effort will be made to amend the Pepper-McFadden bill to permit of some form of chain operation.

The second point of attack which already has been made is against the Federal Reserve Board. Linked with the Pepper-McFadden bill was a proviso extending the life of the board indefinitely instead of limiting it, as was provided under the original charter.

Dissatisfaction in West.
Since the passage of the bill there has been complaint against a changed attitude on the part of the board. Bankers who formerly were able to get accommodations within reason from the Federal Reserve banks have, in several instances, found that when they sent paper into the bank to be discounted it was held for additional collateral on loans already made.

There are at the present time several sections of the country where the financial institutions are in rather cramped condition. This is especially true in portions of the farm belt, where deflation has caught the banks with assets that can not be easily liquidated. Bankers generally feel that such conditions should be recognized by the reserve banks and that a broader viewpoint should be taken in such cases than in the regions where business is normal.

If the practice which bankers generally have described as a "high hat" attitude on the part of the Federal reserve board continues, it is considered entirely possible that an effort to limit the powers and functions of the reserve board may be brought into Congress with the effort to restore chain banking and through a coalition such as put the Pepper-McFadden bill across—although composed this time entirely of enemies of the measure—make some changes in the existing law.

U. S. Investments Rise
72 Per Cent Abroad

Despite predictions made at the first of the year that American investments in foreign countries would dwindle this year, the first three months show an increase of 72 per cent over the same period last year. W. E. Thorne, of the finance and investment division of the Department of Commerce, said yesterday.

Publicly floated foreign securities totaled $377,472,700 during the quarter as compared with $252,363,150 for the first quarter of 1926, he said. January was the largest month and probably was the largest in the history of American foreign financing. It was said. The total for January was $178,008,200, or $23,763,200 more than for October, the heaviest month of last year.

Terminal Warehouse
Chain Move Is Made

New York, April 5 (By A. P.).—As an initial step in the formation of a large terminal warehouse chain, Continental Terminals, Inc., has been incorporated in Delaware and will own the capital stock and junior bonds of the Central Railway & Cold Storage Co., of Cleveland, Ohio, and the Grand Trunk Railway Terminal & Cold Storage Co., of Detroit. It is understood the operations of Continental Terminals will be extended to include additional key points, including several other properties in other cities.

Total appraised value of the properties and their business is said to exceed $10,000,000.

Fireproof Wall Paper Is Made in Norway

Fireproof wall paper is the latest wonder reported to the Department of Commerce from abroad. A dispatch yesterday from Assistant Trade Commissioner P. B. Lyon, of Helsingfors, Finland, said that experiments are being conducted in Oslo, Norway, with a material, which, applied to the surface of wall paper will enable it to resist fire. Wood treated with the material is said to be absolutely fireproof, the dispatch said. The process is an invention of a Norwegian engineer. Experiments have been conducted for about a year, it was said. In order to test the efficacy of the material, a house was constructed of wood treated with it, to determine its reaction to cold, water and fire. Reports stated, according to the dispatch, that it was impossible to set the building on fire.

U. S. BONDS MAY BE SOLD TO AID VETERANS' LOANS

Course Would Be Taken to Insure Surplus Fund, Declares Mills.

M'CARL APPEAL PLANNED

Bonds, which represent previous investments of the veterans' bureau out of the United States government life insurance fund, may be sold temporarily to insure a surplus fund for making loans to veterans, it was indicated yesterday by Acting Secretary of the Treasury Mills.

The veterans' bureau, it was disclosed, had prepared an appeal from the decision of Comptroller General McCarl, denying the transfer of $25,000,000 from the adjusted service certificate fund to the life insurance fund for making loans to veterans in case the demand for loans exceeded the $3,000,000 a month now available from the life insurance fund. This appeal is being held in abeyance, pending negotiations with the Treasury.

Mr. Mills indicated the possibility of selling temporarily enough of the bonds belonging to the life insurance fund to insure a sufficient amount of money to make loans to the veterans in compliance with the demand. It was the desire of Director Frank T. Hines, of the veterans' bureau, in requesting the transfer of $25,000,000 from the adjusted service certificate fund to provide a reserve sufficient to prevent the possibility of the bureau having to curtail the loans to veterans. The temporary selling of the bonds, which would stipulate that the government could repurchase them, would give this surety, it was said.

The bureau will have available $8-200,000 for loans this month, Harold W. Breining, assistant director in charge of finance, said. This amount includes money accrued in March.

Miscellaneous freight totaled 375,939 cars, an increase of 14,361 over the same week last year; coal, 206,990, an increase of 35,564; merchandise and less than carload lots, 267,445, an increase of 479; grain and grain products, 37,365, a decrease of 818; live stock, 26,918, a decrease of 386; forest products, 70,867, a decrease of 7,262; ore, 11,267, an increase of 258, and coke, 12,097, a decrease of 1,186.

Is the Wife to Blame When Her Husband Grows Tired of Her?

HAND in hand they stand before the altar. It is their hour—the supreme moment of their lives. One by one the sacred vows are taken. And then, softly but clearly through the hushed silence comes the final declaration:

"I now pronounce you man and wife."

Just a few simple, beautiful, solemnly impressive words—but how fraught with the promise of future happiness or woe!

Is marriage the beginning of romance—or is it the end? If a man grows tired of his wife, who is to blame?

Many a girl, after marriage, lives in a fool's paradise. She thinks because she is wedded to the man she loves that the prize is captured, the goal of happiness won, that she can safely rest on her laurels. For he now belongs to her.

She forgets that "getting" and "holding" are not the same. She sees no peril to her happiness in the countless influences that beset her husband's life in the world outside the home.

If his affection cools, she attributes it to "business worries." If she finds they are drifting apart—if she makes the heart-breaking discovery that he no longer cares—it rarely occurs to her to wonder if the fault lies in herself.

Too late, if at all, she may suspect "the other woman." But when she does—when he confesses the truth—and she realizes that as a wife she has proved a wretched failure—can she make amends? Can she win him back again? Can she regain the love she has lost through her own ignorance and folly?

This is the situation that confronted the wife in that vivid, heart-throbbing, never-to-be-forgotten story of real life, "My Stolen Husband," which appears in the May issue of True Story Magazine. It is a situation that, all too often, has resulted in broken homes, broken hearts, and broken lives. Every self-satisfied wife, and every girl who contemplates marriage, should read this compelling story. It will give all women something to think about.

The Most Popular Magazine in the World—and Why

WHAT is more fascinating, thrilling, inspiring, than the swiftly-moving drama of Life itself? What is more touching, more dramatic, than the frank revelations of personal experience? That is what True Story gives you every month—and why it is the most popular magazine in the world among more than eight million readers. True Story permits you to share the most intimate of human secrets—the hopes, fears, passions, temptations, struggles and triumphs of life that could never be revealed to you in any other way. Read, for example:

"I Wanted Romance"—The one tragedy in Edna's life was that other girls were attractive while she was plain; they had boy friends, she had none. Why should she be denied a few hours of gayety, lively adventure, innocent fun? Grim revolt entered her soul, and with all the reckless abandon of a heart starved for attention, admiration, love, she set out to find "romance." She found it—at the cost of wrecking half a dozen lives. A startling story of real life.

"My Years of Folly"—If a deep and wonderful love is a prize worth guarding and keeping, Evelyn should have been supremely happy. But more insistent than the call of love was the desire for a career. So, stifling the tender sentiments in her heart, she followed the lure of ambition—but could she have looked ahead to see where that road would lead—

"Youth's Madness"—When a girl falls in with the wrong crowd, anything can happen. A week-end cottage, a group of gay companions, drinking, dancing, petting—and all natural restraint seems thrown to the winds. Many times Beth's friends had laughed at her as straight-laced, old-fashioned—but for once she decided to "play the game." Her tragic, never-to-be-forgotten story of what happened is a true-life narrative that every girl in America—and every father and mother, too—should read.

A compilation by Bradstreet's shows clearings in 1926 fell off from January by $4,106,000,000, or by 9 per cent.

Thus three-fourths of the gain in 127 cities was at New York, which furnished only 69 per cent of the clearings. Yesterday's session of the Washington Stock Exchange did not maintain the activity of Monday, but such stocks and bonds as were traded in sold at strong prices, while the bid prices throughout the list were firm.

Washington Railway & Electric 4s were in greater demand than for some time and $16,000 changed hands in three transactions at 85½. Washington Market 5s, out for the first time in many months, sold unchanged at 94.

Washington Gas Light 5s moved at 101½, the 6s in series A at 103½, for the $100, and the 6s in series B changed hands at 101½. Potomac Electric Consolidated 5s sold at 101½, and Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone 5s moved at 101.

Washington Gas Light sold in a single share at 74½, while National Mortgage & Investment preferred sold at 81½.

By-Law Committee Named.

With the growth of Washington chapter, American Institute, making it necessary to broaden the by-laws so as to meet conditions arising in the government of the body from time to time, a committee on revision of the by-laws has been appointed by T. Hunt, president.

The committee will have for its chairman Harold W. Burnside, past president, and serving with him will be Miss Lois A. White, Federal-American National Bank, secretary; J. J. Roberts, chairman of the educational committee; A. E. Henze, of W. B. Hibbs & Co.; R. Jesse Chaney, past president, and Joseph D. Yerkes, first vice president.

Jugoslavia Loan Planned.

An important financial operation for Jugoslavia, a $12,000,000 loan for the State Mortgage Bank, is about to be arranged by American bankers, according to announcement yesterday by Frank P. Morse, manager of the Washington office of J. & W. Seligman & Co., who will probably handle the financing.

Completion of this transaction, which is expected within the next week, will provide needed capital for rehabilitation of the country's resources and will undoubtedly stimulate the financial and economic revival now under way in Jugoslavia, according to the banker.

Certificates to Be Given.

The open spring meeting of Washington chapter, American Institute of Banking, at which the certificate to graduates in the first semester will be presented, which had been fixed for April 21, has been changed to the night of April 20. The meeting will be held at the Willard hotel and will be followed by a dance.

"They'd be glad for us to go into the New York court of law and come out with a $100,000 verdict. They'd be glad to pay us that sum right now."
Judge Bodine left the matter more or less in the air by adjourning the case to the September term of court.

SCHOOL GAMES, HALTED BY RAIN, SCHEDULE

Central Nine To Engage Freshmen

Tech at Georgetown Prep; Tennis Also on Program.

Eastern Rifflists Hope to Win at Expense of Western.

SCHOLASTIC athletic teams, forced to idle during the past several days on account of the unfavorable weather conditions, today will attempt to play, as scheduled, the basketball, tennis and rifle games between the Eastern and Western teams. The Eastern Rifflists, the St. John's and the Eastern Rifflists were called off yesterday because of rain.

Due to some misunderstanding, the game between St. John's and Eastern Rifflists will not be played today, as was previously announced, but will be shifted to another date later in the season.

This postponement leaves only two diamond games on today's schedule. Tech is booked to visit Garret Park for a game with the Georgetown Prep nine, while the Maryland Freshmen team will play at College Park.

The game against the Manual Trainers will be the Prep's first start against a local scholastic nine this season. Judging by the caliber of teams, produced by the Garret Park trainers in former seasons, they should win.

But Tech, defeated by St. Albans in their opener, will press their best pitchers into service today in an endeavor to break into the winning column. Enns, Forrest and Price will probably be the twirling choices of Coach Glenn, each working three innings. The lineup and starting pitcher of the Prep has not yet been named by Coach Frank Emmet.

In meeting the Maryland Freshmen the Central High team faces an arduous test. The Freshmen can always be depended upon to turn out baseball teams that are capable of giving local high school nines real battles. A victory for the Mt. Pleasant team should serve as a warning signal for those who underestimate the strength of Coach Kimball's aggregation.

Tech and Episcopal will inaugurate the scholastic tennis season with a match scheduled on Alexandria courts at 3:30 o'clock. The Tech racket-wielders have been weakened by the temporary loss of David Legum and Edwin Rice, lettermen of the last year's squad, who are ineligible because of scholastic difficulties, but they are expected to rejoin the team by the time the high school matches begin.

Neyer, Bing, Schultz and McIlus are the likely choices to represent Tech in the single matches, while Hollins and Bing and Schultz and Meyer will form the doubles combinations. Several of the candidates who have improved in practice matches also will get a chance to display their wares at the net.

The Eastern High shooters are scheduled to engage the Western marksmen on the latter's range at 4 o'clock in an interhigh rifle match. The Eastern rifflists, who bowed to Central in their last match, hope to increase their standing and the expense of the Western shooters.

Banners come from all over the country to inspect the magnificent banking room of the Federal-American. We invite all Washington to visit us, too.

Washington claims George Voigt as a product of its own links. The player who yesterday shot 188 for 36 holes to win the qualifying medal at Pinehurst developed his game here and since 1923 has been prominent in golf in this section.

Voigt learned to play the game as a caddy at the old Columbia Country club when that club was located on Georgia avenue. He entered competition as a public links player and in 1923 won the Washington Post cup in a tournament at East Potomac park.

In 1924 Voigt won the District public links title, and in the same year he captured the Columbia invitation tournament. Later in the season he joined the Bannockburn club.

Nineteen hundred and twenty-five was another banner year for Voigt in view of his victory in the District amateur tournament, but last season was his most notable campaign. In 1936 he won the Middle Atlantic amateur title, the Chevy Chase tournament, the Sherwood Forest tournament, and finished a stroke behind Leo Diegel in the Middle Atlantic open tournament at Baltimore.

PAULINO BOUT SET FOR PAULINO

Meets Ed Kealey Apr. 10; Richard Fails to Sign Basque.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Paulino, the former prizefighter, appears to be giving Arthur Tende, the well-known "fun" promoter, a hard time.

Paulino and his board of managers were scheduled to show up at the New Garden today for another discussion of the proposed Paulino bout with Jack Delaney, but they failed to appear. It developed that Eddie Mack, matchmaker of the Argonne A. C. Boston, and Paulino's board of managers, who were in the air until they had signed a contract to box one Ed Kealey ten rounds in a decision in the Hub on April 19, Easter Hill day.

Kealey is probably regarded as an amateur favorite for Paulino, but he is a contender who is apt to take the Paulino by surprise.

When Tende learns of the Kealey bout he may seek an injunction to prevent the fight, in view of the fact that Richard has a one-year option on Paulino's services.

Numbers J. Fugate underwent a minor operation today at St. Mary's hospital in Brooklyn. Several hours later he was back at his office on Broadway, trying to dig up a real opponent for Tommy Loughran at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, on May 4.

Joe McMahon, matchmaker of the New Garden, applied for reinstatement when the boxing commissioner held his meeting today, but the matter was held over for further review.

Capital College Netmen In Two Matches Today

The Georgetown tennis team will journey to Annapolis today for a match with the Naval Academy team, and George Washington university is scheduled to play host to the Syracuse racquets.

The matches are the first of the season for both schools, and George Washington is represented by a net squad for the first time in several years. In the case of the Syracuse match, it is probable that both matches will be postponed, but George Washington and Syracuse might stage their match on the concrete courts at Seventeenth and H streets.

Sammy Baker Wins Decision Over Ward

NEW YORK, April 3 (By A. P.).—Sergeant Sammy Baker, of Mitchell field, won a ten-round judges' decision over George Ward, of Elmwood, N. Y., in the main bout of a welterweight show at Madison Square Garden tonight. Ward weighed 147½ and the winner 146½.

In another ten-round match George Rife, 154, of Toronto, Canadian welterweight champion, won on a foul in the second round from Jack McVey, 151, New York negro boxer.

Willie Harmon, 145½, New York, and Tommy White, 145, Mexico, fought ten bruising rounds to a draw. Both were cut about the nose and mouth.

G. U. Prep-Western Play Tennis Friday

The Georgetown Prep tennis team will open its season Friday against Western High on the Garret Park courts. In facing the Western court team, on whom roster are such players as Donley Mitchell, Don Garber and others of equal merit, the Garret Park lads meet the most formidable court foe on their schedule.

On the efforts of the Dailey brothers, Gene and Alfred, the latter captain of the team, rest the chances of the Preps to defeat Western. Gene Dailey is No. 1 and his brother is No. 2 man. Several other candidates have displayed promising ability in practice and may see action in the initial match. Hirsch, O'Neil, McGinn, Lechner, Hall, Clark and Blanty are among those most likely to be chosen for the remaining positions on the team.

Manager Thomas Ayers has arranged an attractive schedule of eleven matches, which are as follows:

April 6, Western: 10, St. John's: 25, East: 20, North: 10.

May 1, St. John's: 4, Friends' School: 6, St. Alban's: 1, St. Peter's Prep of Jersey City: 10, Emerson: 25, Woodward: 15, Loyola of Baltimore.

PENN RELAYS DRAW HOST OF STARS

Carr, Pole Vault Ace, to Meet Strong Opposition.

PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—Eddie Carr, Yale's brilliant pole vaulter and world's record holder indoors, will meet a great field of vaulters in the thirty-third annual relay carnival of the University of Pennsylvania on Franklin field, April 19 and 20.

Carr will be one of the principal attractions that include among others, Lord Burghley, of Cambridge, and the three sprint stars, Jackson, Scholz, Roland Locke and Henry Russell, who will compete in the 100 and 200.

With more than a week remaining before entries close for the individual events, the pole vault contingent is represented by star vaulters from all sections. With such a high grade of contestants the relay carnival record of 12 feet 10½ inches should be broken.

Carr's indoor world's record of 12 feet 9½ inches is an indication that he should break the old mark, although in the indoor intercollegiate he did not get over the bar above 12 feet. Steve Bradley, of Princeton, who tied Carr indoors, has displayed great improvement during the past two seasons and should give his Eli rival a keen battle.

Frank Gieser, of Marquette university, Milwaukee, is the hope of the West. He has cleared the bar at 12 feet 10 inches a number of times and during the last winter won the central intercollegiate championship and tied for first in the Illinois indoor championships.

Harold McAttee, of Michigan State, is another Westerner with quite a reputation as a pole vaulter who should figure with the stars. He consistently does over 12 feet 6 inches, which should bring him in among the first five.

Among the other entries who will vie with Carr and those mentioned for places are Fred Sturdy, Yale; Roy Slagle, Pennsylvania; Richard Piffner, Arthur Reed and Joseph Williams, Cornell; Warren Smith, Dartmouth; Francis Clark, Harvard, and Fred Welser, Georgetown. All of whom scored points in the indoor intercollegiate.

BONDS SCORE NEW TOPS

Number of Soft Spots Develop Amid Heavy Buying; Liberty's Firm.

FOREIGN ISSUES ARE QUIET

New York, April 5 (By the Associated Press).—Heavy buying of industrial and secondary railway issues in today's bond market carried down to 40 or 50 securities to new high levels for the year, or longer. There were a number of soft spots, particularly in the Liberty and high-grade railway groups, but losses were of minor consequence. Practically all of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul bonds advanced to new 1927 peaks, some of them selling up to their highest prices since the reorganization. Erie issues also attained new tops, with the exception of D convertible 4s, which dropped nearly 2 points on realizing. Awaras, Hudson's convertible 5s again advanced to the strength of the common stock.

Moderately heavy demand developed for Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit 6s and International Telephone 5 1/2s, but there was relatively little change in price. Colorado Fuel 5s touched par, the highest price of 104 1/2.

Foreign issues were quiet, with moderate buying of the New Mexico 6 1/2s at 104 1/2 under the influence of the expectation of a 10-cent advance in the price of the 100,000 loan to the State Mortgage Bank of New Mexico.

Federal government issues developed little activity, although prices on the whole held firm.

Public offering will be made tomorrow of $8,000,000 City of Toronto 4 1/2 per cent bonds, priced to yield 4.50 to 4.60 per cent. The offering syndicate is headed by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, which has a 4 1/2 per cent serial gold bonds also will be marketed tomorrow at a price to yield about 3.60 per cent.
